

NOTE FROM ALLIES
ENDS NEGOTIATIONS

BALKAN STATES SEND WORD THAT PEACE CONFERENCE IS OVER ALTHOUGH ARMISTICE CONTINUES.

TURKEY HARD PRESSED

Ottoman Government May Be Forced to Yield Owing to Existing Conditions—Powers Watching Situation.

London, Jan. 29.—The note drafted by the peace delegates of the allies was delivered by Stojan Novakovich, head of the Serbian delegation to Rechad Pasha, shortly after noon today.

The determining factor impelling the allies to this course of action was the receipt of reports during the night and again this morning, of grave ferment among the Turkish troops stationed on the Tchataldja lines, large portions of whom appear to be unwilling to follow the lead of the young Turks.

At Critical Time. It is considered here that in view of the international complications in Turkey, Mahmoud Shekfat Pasha, the new grand vizier, may yield before the energetic act of the allies. The gravity of the situation at Constantinople is shown by the large naval forces concentrated by the European powers at the entrance to the Dardanelles.

Even Austria-Hungary, which in the past has refused to join the other powers in naval coercive measures, has now ordered two warships to be in readiness to start for the east at any moment.

While the clouds are gathering over Constantinople, the astronomers make a study of the European ferment, considering that the general peace of Europe is no longer in danger. As a proof of this they point out that Italy has just disbanded an army of 100,000 soldiers who served in Tripoli.

Aid of Powers. Rechad Pasha this morning expressed the hope that the powers, "realizing the unfair treatment which has been inflicted on Turkey," would help the Porte to surmount its present difficulties, "thus insuring the definite political and economic settlement of the whole eastern problem." Several members of the Bulgarian peace mission left London today, including Theodoroff, the Bulgarian minister of finance.

The text of the note to Rechad Pasha, handed him by the Balkan delegates, follows:

"The plenipotentiaries of the allied Balkan states having since the suspension of the work of the peace conference awaited in vain for three weeks the reply of the Ottoman plenipotentiaries to their last demands and events which have occurred in Constantinople appearing to have destroyed hope of arriving at the conclusion of peace are to their great regret obliged to declare that the peace negotiations commenced in London on December 16th last, are broken off."

The note does not denounce the armistice. This will devolve on the government of the Balkan states.

Germany's Warning. Constantinople, Jan. 29.—"Hands off all the Turkish possessions in Asia," was Germany's pointed notification today to everyone concerned. It was given by the German ambassador to Turkey in the course of a speech at the Teutonic Club's annual dinner in honor of Emperor William's birthday.

"The future of Turkey lies in Asia Minor," Baron Hans von Wangenheim told the enthusiastic gathering of his compatriots.

He continued, "The German interests in Asia Minor are great and are bound up with those of Turkey. The recent note of the European powers promised that Turkey would be aided in her future development. Germany will lend powerful assistance in this cause."

"In any case, however, to all the Turkish possessions in Asia Germany will attach the label 'touch us not.'"

To File Answer. Constantinople, Jan. 29.—Important concessions will, it is expected, be made by Turkey in her reply to the joint note of the European powers. The response will be handed to Margaret Jandani, Pasha, Austrian Hungarian ambassador to Turkey, as being of the diplomatic corps here, either this evening or tomorrow morning. The basis of the solution proposed by Turkey, it is said, will be different from any yet mooted.

Green Bay Man Seeks $100,000 From Pulp and Paper Company As Result of Controversy.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 29.—Arguments will be made in federal court in Milwaukee before Judge Geiger in which Edward A. Edmonds, former republican state central committee chairman, and the Spanish River Pulp and Paper company of Espanola, Canada, are parties. P. H. Martin of this city will represent Mr. Edmonds. The action is the result of an agreement made by Mr. Edmonds to buy the mill and property of the Spanish River Pulp and Paper company for $2,100,000. A contract was drawn and agreed upon by the directors of the company in April, 1907, and the sum of $100,000 was paid by the purchaser in May of that year. The shareholders met in June, but in the meantime a controversy arose over the title to the land which was overflooded by water from the paper mill dam.

The company assured Mr. Edmonds of a clear title and represented to him, it is said, they had a clear title to the crown land. Edmonds stood ready in 1908 to pay one million dollars more on the deal, but withdrew, alleging that the company could not and did not give him clear title to the lands. He is now suing to recover $100,000 he paid in to bind the deal. The company claims it has a good title to the lands.

Minister in Northern County Tells Fire Marshal Purcell of Burning His Own Home.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Madison, Minn., Jan. 29.—The Rev. Emanuel Ekeland, of Lake Shore township, Lac Qui Parle county, has confessed that he burned his own house and barn, January 20th, and that he burned his automobile last June. He was placed under arrest. On the day of the fire he said he was awakened early to find his home in flames, and that as he was trying to get from the house he was struck twice on the head by an unseen assailant but regained consciousness in time to escape only to find his barn also burning. He also told of receiving anonymous letters threatening his life. Ekeland's alleged confession came after an investigation of the fire made by deputy state fire marshals from St. Paul.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.,
FORTY YEARS OLD TODAY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, Jan. 29.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., only son of the Standard Oil magnate and prospective heir to the bulk of the colossal fortune possessed by his father, entered upon his fortieth year today, having been born on January 29, 1874, in the family home in Cleveland. Mr. Rockefeller was married in 1901 to Miss Abby Aldrich, daughter of the Rhode Island senator. The couple have five children, four of whom are boys.

CARNATIONS WORN TODAY IN MEMORY OF MCKINLEY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Pink carnations adorning the lapels of senators, representatives and private citizens marked the observance today of the seventh anniversary of the birth of William McKinley. The pink carnation was the favorite flower of the late President, and ever since his tragic death his friends and admirers have followed the custom of wearing one of the flowers at each recurring anniversary of his birth.

SUPREME COURT GRANTS GOVERNMENT'S REQUEST

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, Jan. 29.—The supreme court today granted the request of the department of justice of an immediate issue of the court's mandate in the Patton cotton corner case. The court's custom against display of flowers in the court chamber was set aside today when chief justice wore a red carnation in memory of President McKinley. The blossoms were provided by Justice Day, McKinley's life-long friend.

ASK INDETERMINATE
SENTENCE LAW FOR
STATE'S CRIMINALS

Habitual Criminal Act Also Recommended by State Board of Control in Annual Report—Need $2,477,000.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—Strong necessity for an indeterminate sentence in the interest of justice is emphasized by the state board of control in its biennial report submitted to the governor. This and an habitual criminal act are recommended for enactment by the present legislature.

Calling attention to the penalty for horse stealing, the board says: "It is out of all proportion to the punishment imposed for grand larceny. There is no apparent reason why a man should be committed to state's prison for a longer term for stealing a horse than for stealing a cow of equal value. Since the advent of the automobile and the electric car and the flying machine, the horse has lost that almost sacred recognition, but the punishment for his theft remains unchanged. Many other instances might be cited."

Power to Pardon Board.

The modified form of the indeterminate sentence law favored by the board imposes upon a person convicted not less than the minimum nor more than the maximum provided by law, and gives to the parole board the power to parole when in the opinion of the board and the governor such person is fit to be released on parole. "Minnesota's experience with such a law has been satisfactory," says the report.

The repeated commitment of habitual criminals is called "utter nonsense," and a law urged permitting confinement of such offenders as the state requires of the insane or feeble minded.

Recommend Appropriations.

The following appropriations are recommended: State Hospital for Insane, $236,000; Northern Hospital for Insane, $74,500; Wisconsin School for Deaf, $145,500; State School for the Blind, $155,500; Industrial School for Boys, $195,000; Wisconsin State Prison, $282,000; State Public School, $203,100; Home for the Feeble Minded, $241,000; State Reformatory, $159,000; State Tuberculosis Sanitarium, $219,500; Wisconsin Workshop for the Blind, $15,000; Hospital for Criminal Insane, $153,000.

This calls for a total appropriation for the state institutions of $2,477,000. In addition, an appropriation of $100,000 for a site and $150,000 for the construction of a new home for the feeble minded is urged, and the building of a reformatory for women is recommended.

Items of Report.

Purchases by the board amount to over a million dollars annually. The work has multiplied so that continuous sessions are necessary. Inspections of jails, asylums, etc., should be entrusted to agents of the board to reduce the burden, the report adds. Such institutions include 34 county asylums, 42 poorhouses, four city schoolhouses, 70 county jails, 318 police stations and lockups, and two county senatoria, and 88 private benevolent institutions. Two home finding societies were licensed and one, at Green Bay, was denied. Licensing of private senatoria for insane, feeble minded and tubercular patients is advised. The northwest portion of the state, exclusive of Douglas county, is in need of insane asylums, the report says. Convict highway labor is approved, but not if armed guards are needed. The Colorado system is advised. An indeterminate sentence law is first essential. At the state prison, praise is given to the Paramount Knitting company, holder of the convict labor contract, for its treatment of the prisoners and obedience to the terms of the state.

Binder Twine Plant.

The board granted 150 paroles from the Green Bay reformatory during the biennium, and 127 from the state prison. No armed guards are employed on the prison farm and there were no attempts to escape. The binder twine plant, it is reported, will employ about 100 men and will be more than self-sustaining.

The board asks for amendment to the law to make counties having no insane asylums pay an amount equal to the state's for the maintenance of their inmate population in state institutions. At the rate of $3.50 per week, county and state would pay $1.75 each. Amendment to the law is asked to enable the board to charge the actual cost of maintenance for those who are able to provide the necessary treatment at state hospitals for the insane.

The report is exhaustive in details of the work of the board and of each institution under its control.

NINE PERSONS INJURED
IN TAXI-CAB COLLISION

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Two taxi-cabs collided headed on Washington Park boulevard late yesterday afternoon, severely injuring nine persons two of whom may die. The seriously injured are: Mrs. James M. Forty Million Dollars Alleged Lost in Interest Alone Since 1905 Says Congressional Committee.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, Jan. 29.—A loss of forty million dollars the government might have received in interest on idle funds in the treasury since 1905 and a much greater loss on funds deposited without interest in national banks, will be described in a report soon to be made to the house favoring the adoption of the Cooke bill for a compulsory deposit law.

Figures will show, according to members of the house committee on expenditures in the treasury department that the government might earn from two million to three million dollars a year on its idle cash.

The proposed law would compel banks to bid for deposits, would limit the amount any bank might receive and compel all banks to pay interest on government deposits. The report of the committee is expected to show that under a two per cent interest law the government could have earned nearly one hundred and

Army Bill. The Townsend bill to place on the retired list of army all union officers of the Civil War at three quarters pay they were receiving at the time they were mustered out, will be considered tomorrow by the senate committee on military affairs. A substitute bill by Senator Sanders was voted down by the committee at its meeting and the members are expected to divide on the Townsend bill. Friends of the measure hope to have it ordered favorably by the committee.

Investigation of alleged activity of the postoffice department in connection with President Taft's campaign is forecasted as one of the first developments before the senate campaign expenditures committee as the result of the senate today extending the committee's authority to cover the campaign ending Nov. 5, 1912.

The resolution passed without opposition. It is understood Senator Clapp, chairman of the investigation committee, contemplates calling Postmaster General Hitchcock, Charles D. Hillo, republican national chairman, and others connected with the republican campaign, as the first witnesses.

By a tie vote the republicans of the senate today lost their effort to force President Taft's appointments. Dem. President Taft's appointments, with the aid of Senator Brewster and Senator La Follette republicans and Senator Polinder progressive, prevented the senate from resuming the fight.

In a report on "unreal conditions at the Pribeloff Islands" the house committee which conducted a wide investigation today endorsed a closed session of five years. President Taft recently asked to have a law to that effect repealed.

'HOW TO INSURE
YOUR POCKETBOOK

To do that you simply make sure of getting the highest quality for the most reasonable price. You yourself cannot be familiar with the values of all the necessities you buy, and so you must rely on what others tell you of the good points of the various articles.

Insure your pocketbook by taking the word of the man who has his all at stake—the manufacturer himself. If he tells you an article through his advertisement you will not continue to use his goods, and his profits will fall off. In time his misleading statements to buyers will drive him out of business.

You can insure your pocketbook with the help of THE GAZETTE—get quality and price and convenience with small effort. Rely upon the advertisements of THE GAZETTE's advertisers. You can in that way put yourself out of the power of unscrupulous manufacturers and be guided to the stores of reliable dealers. It pays in time, money and trouble to read THE GAZETTE'S advertisements closely and constantly every day.

STATE COMMISSIONS

Assemblyman Nye Introduces Measure Giving More Power to Railroad and Warehouse Commissions

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—The general scope of the railroad commission law in the settlement of discriminatory charges will be broadened if the bill introduced in the assembly this morning by Assemblyman Ray J. Nye of Superior is passed. His measure provides that any person, firm or corporation may submit to the railroad commission, either by mail or in person, any railroad company or express bill or receipt showing charges paid for the transportation of any property for the purpose of having it examined with respect to the correctness of weights, rates and charges indicated in the statement. It is made the duty of the railroad commission to make a complete investigation of all such complaints and in case the charges are incorrect a refund must be paid to the complainant.

Another measure extending the power of the grain and warehouse commission was also introduced by Assemblyman Nye today. It empowers the grain and warehouse commission upon request to send any deputy weighmaster or deputy inspector to places outside the city of Superior to weigh, inspect and grade grain and may also, upon request, direct the representative of the commission to weigh coal in car load lots or the docks within the territory under its jurisdiction. The commission is permitted under the bill to fix a fee for such services.

Nye is also pressing a bill to amend the commission form for cities' law so that the proceedings of the commission may be published in the same method as common council proceedings are now published in the newspapers. He believes that a general publication of the council's work in this form is preferable to the pamphlet system of publication, demanded by the present law.

Senator Victor Linley presented a bill in the senate this morning giving to municipal courts the regular method of impaneling a jury as is now used by the circuit courts. In a number of the municipal courts of the state a jury for the municipal court is selected by the same method used in the justice courts. An officer is sent out to bring in men to sit on the jury. Senator Kipley maintains that the custom which he proposes will be more satisfactory and expeditious.

The tax commission inheritance bill presented by Assemblyman Gulickson raises the taxes upon an inheritance where the heir is a father, mother, daughter, son, husband, wife or sister of the deceased from 1.5 to 2%.

A prison warden may furnish convicts to counties for highway labor according to a bill offered by Assemblyman Leach.

The appointment of a conservation commission of Wisconsin and the abolishment of the offices of state fish and game warden, state park board, and state board of forestry is the substance of a bill offered by Axel Johnson in the assembly.

Assemblyman Urquhart would have a hunter furnish an affidavit of the killing of deer himself, before he can secure tag for shipment. County school of agriculture are provided in a bill by Speaker Hull of the assembly.

Thirty Suffragettes Under "General" Drummord Are Committed For Rioting at Parliament Building.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

London, Jan. 29.—"General" Mrs. Drummord and thirty other suffragettes will spend the next fourteen days in jail as the result of their determination to force David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to receive them at a deputation in the house of Commons last evening. All the prisoners declared in court after they were sentenced today that they would immediately start a "hunger" strike.

The accused women were brought up at the Bow Street Police court, before Robert Marsham, police magistrate. Mrs. Drummord complained during the hearing that the police had handled her roughly when she was arrested. She declared that a patrolman threw her into the mud.

"It is now war to the knife," she told the magistrate and continued. "You and Mr. Lloyd George have a lot of trouble ahead of you. You will have to do the dirty work and you will have plenty of it."

The women all refused the option which was offered them of paying a fine instead of going to prison.

COMPENSATION ACT CASE
AGAINST THE SOO ROAD

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—Arguments were heard by Circuit Judge Stevens yesterday afternoon in the case of Mrs. Ella Torvalson of Vernon, Wash. county, against the Soo Line under the workmen's compensation act. The husband of the woman was struck and killed by a Soo train and she was awarded $2,000 by order of the industrial commission. The Soo company claimed Torvalson, who was in its employ, was not under the compensation law because he was not a shop or office employee. The commission held he was protected by the law because his employer was under the act. This was an application to the circuit court to review the decision of the commission.

Northwestern's Tax in Wisconsin Amounts to $1,348,897—Ad Valorem System of Taxation As Basis.

RAILROADS TO PAY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—The fifty railroads of Wisconsin will pay $3,860,486.40 this year. The valuation of these railroads as announced by the state tax commission last night is $326,263,900. The largest tax will be paid by the Northwestern railroad, which is $134,897.52. The Milwaukee road ranks next and is taxed $1,126,448. The smallest tax will be paid by the Chicago & Lake Superior Railway company of Cambridge, Dane county, reputed to be the shortest railroad line in the world. Its taxes will be $70.99. Under the ad valorem system of taxation the railroad companies now pay on the same basis as other property in the state.

"The general property of the state as finally determined by the commission for the purposes of such assessment is the sum of $2,841,630,416," says the commission in a statement. "The total amount of taxes, state, county and local, levied upon the general property of the state for the year 1912, (excluding special assessments and poll taxes) as determined by the commission, is the sum of $33,623,412.91, and the average rate of taxation as computed by the commission upon the totals is .01133243701, or $11.83 upon every $1,000 of valuation."

BAD FEEDING CAUSES CRIME.

The president of the Fat Man's club of Boston calls attention to the fact that fat men commit crime rarely, cases of men weighing over 200 pounds being practically unknown. Most of the crime is committed by men under 150 pounds. This agrees with the noted observation of Henry Ward Beecher that a man with a bad liver can't be a good Christian. Moral and physical health are intimately related. The toxins produced by defective nutrition poison the mind, and bad mental conditions produce toxins that interfere with nutrition. Truant officers find that bad boys are badly fed. Physical and mental health are intimately related, and the basis of good health is good feeding.

ARCHBISHOP MESSMER SENDS REGULATIONS FOR LENTEN PERIOD

Catholics in the Milwaukee Diocese Will Be Interested in Reading the Rules.

Archbishop Messmer of the Milwaukee diocese, to which the two Janesville Catholics, St. Patrick's and St. Mary's, belong, has issued the following list of Lenten regulations:

1. All Fridays and fastdays during the year are days of abstinence from flesh-meat. On Saturdays, which by law are also days of abstinence, flesh-meat is allowed by Apostolic indulgence at all meals, unless they happen to be fast-days.

2. The following are fast-days of obligation: All days of Lent (except Sundays); the Ember-days, the Vigils or Eves of Pentecost, of the Assumption B. V. M., of All Saints, and of Christmas; lastly, the Fridays of Advent.

On fast-days only one full meal a day is allowed to persons obliged to fast. But indulgent custom allows coffee, tea, chocolate, with a piece of bread in the morning, and the use of eggs, butter, milk, etc., in the evening. For sufficient reason the collation (snack) may be taken at noon, and the dinner or principal meal in the evening.

During Lent, by Apostolic indulgence, flesh-meat is allowed only at the principal meal on Fridays and except all Wednesdays and Fridays, and also the Saturdays in Ember-week (Feb. 15) and Holy Week (March 22). On fast-days in Lent, flesh-meat and fish (including oysters, clams, eggs, turtles, etc.) are never allowed at the same meal, a rule which applies even to the Sundays in Lent and to all persons however otherwise excused or dispensed from the law of either abstinence or fast. But meals may always be prepared with the drippings of either fat or lard.

Should the feasts of the Nativity (Christmas) and the Circumcision (New Year), the feasts of the Assumption and the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and the feasts of All Saints fall upon a day of abstinence or fast, a general dispensation from such abstinence or fast has been granted for such an occurrence by a special order of the Holy Father issued on July 2, 1911. The same holds good for parishes where the feast of the Patron Saint (titular) of the church is observed with solemnity and a large concourse of people.

Persons excused from fast may use flesh-meat more than once on the days when it is allowed at all, whether in Lent or outside of that season. Catholics having attained the sufficient use of reason are bound by the law of abstinence when it is either physically or morally impossible to observe the law or when it would entail serious difficulties, they are excused from it.

In virtue of the Apostolic faculties granted us by the Holy See we hereby delegate pastors to dispense, in each single case, from abstinence the men actually engaged in threshing in a well as the farmer families at whose place threshing is going on. Catholics who have completed their twenty-first year of age are bound to fast. But the causes of excuse just mentioned in regard to abstinence, applied also to the law of fasting. Hence the church ordinarily exempts from fasting the sick and those in feeble health (whether by sickness or old age); women nursing children; all who are engaged in laborious and exhausting occupations. Persons in doubt whether they are excused or not should consult their confessor or pastor for advice or dispensation.

In virtue of an Apostolic indulgence permit workmen and their families the use of flesh-meat at their principal common meal on all fast-days and abstinence days throughout the year, with the exception of all Fridays, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday and Saturday of Holy Week and the Eve of Christmas.

5. Persons excused or dispensed from the law of fast or abstinence ought to perform some other good works of piety and charity in the spirit of Christian penance and satisfaction. Hence the pious custom of giving Lenten Alms, "Redeen thou thy sins with alms," and thy iniquities with works of mercy." Dan. iv. 24. Also the custom of abstaining from intoxicating drinks, of staying away from theatres, dances, card parties and other, profane amusements, etc.

JUNCTION CHURCH IS NOW FREE FROM DEBT

Rev. J. J. McGinnity, Formerly of Janesville, Establishes Flourishing Church in Nearby Town.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Milton Junction, Jan. 29.—The Catholic congregation at St. Mary's at Milton Junction has many reasons to feel proud of what it has accomplished during the past year and one-half. For many years and up to April 12, 1911, the congregation was an out mission attended from Fort Atkinson. Since April 1911 the congregation has been cared for by Rev. J. J. McGinnity, formerly assistant at St. Patrick's church, Janesville. To St. Patrick's and the congregation has flourished and made remarkable financial progress since Father McGinnity took charge of it. It is putting it mildly. Since his appointment as pastor Father McGinnity has paid off a debt on the parsonage of over $3000, which considering the size of the parish is doing exceptionally well. The annual statement shows that the congregation is entirely free of debt. The parish owns a nice cozy church, small but well furnished and amply large enough to accommodate the congregation. They also have a beautiful pastor's residence, costing $5000. It is modern in every regard, being furnished with electric and gas lights and water works.

Financial statement of St. Mary's congregation, Milton Junction, Wis., for the year 1912.

DATE FOR DEBATES ADVANCED ONE WEEK

Janesville-Beloit Contests Will Not be Held Before Feb. 7, According To Latest Word.

The Janesville-Beloit debate which was to have been staged this week at the high school will not take place before February 7th, or the 14th. It is however thought that it will take place on the 7th, because of the basketball game with the Beloit high school on that date. Two years ago the locals lost both at basketball and at debate, on the same day, but Janesville plans to reverse the order this year. The basketball game with Beloit will decide which team will be represented at the tournament next spring, and the debate will be the first of the Beloit College League debates among high schools. The Kenosha-Racine contests will be held on the same night and all the teams will argue on the same question, whether naval expenditures should be diminished in the interest of world peace.

MEMBERS OF COUNCIL ON TRIP TO MADISON

Accompanied Fire Chief Klein There This Morning To See Demonstration of Motor Hose and Chemical.

Mayor James A. Falters and Councilman Roy M. Cummings, together with Chief of the Fire Department H. C. Klein left early this morning for Madison, where they witnessed a demonstration of the new motor-hose and chemical recently added to the fire department of that city. As this piece of apparatus very nearly approximates the specifications for which the city asked bids the Council and Chief were anxious to see it in action. Since there was considerable snow on the ground at Madison, before the snow-fall of last night, and there are still in the city that contest as to steepness with the worst in Janesville, the demonstration should be of great practical value. A demonstrator from the Seagrave factory was expected to put the machine through its paces for the benefit of the visitors.

EXCELLENT PROGRAM ENJOYED BY KNIGHTS

Address and Music Following Annual Banquet Proves Very Pleasing—Dance Follows Program.

Entertainment of a very fine order was provided the Knights of Columbus at their thirteenth annual banquet held at Assembly Hall last evening. Three hundred and fifty or more were seated at the banquet tables where they were served a six course dinner. George Sennett was toastmaster and introduced the speakers in their turn with appropriate remarks. The first number on the program was a vocal solo by George L. Hatch and this was followed by a deserved encore. Miss Marie Nelson amused her audience with a pleasing rendition of the reading, "The Passing of the Horse." The Rev. Father H. C. Hengill, chaplain of St. Paul's university chapel at Madison, spoke briefly on the subject of "Catholic Education," setting forth its peculiar points of strength and aspirations. The Hon. Daniel Grady of Portage gave a brief address in his usual eloquent manner and was followed by City Attorney W. H. Augerthy who brought many an amusing and mirth-provoking anecdote under the title of "Catholicism." "America" was sung by all present, closing the program which followed by dancing. The Hatch orchestra furnished music for the dancers.

MISS ENRIGHT DESCRIBES HER TRIP TO THE ORIENT

Gives Interesting Address to High School Students Yesterday Afternoon.

The high school was adjourned yesterday afternoon for a short time to enjoy a talk by Miss Kittie Enright on her trip to the Orient. She will be remembered as being a former high school student here, and a former school teacher here, now holding a position at one of the leading Chinese schools. Her talk covered the trip from here to San Francisco and from there to Honolulu and to Manila. The city of Honolulu is a cosmopolitan place and is a quaint and attractive city. Miss Enright remained at Manila for about six months. She describes the various places of interest in the Philippine metropolis. From Manila she went to Hongkong, and then to the leading cities of Japan.

On a place of interest to her was the tea house of Japan. Here the wealthy people of Japan are seen, and the entire place is clean and in order. Before entering a tea house or any of the department stores, the people are requested to wear a covering for their shoes so that they cannot track up the floor. Miss Enright talked for forty minutes and held the students in close attention.

JANESVILLE MAROONS TO MEET BELOIT COMUS CLUB

Local Basketball Aggregation Has Hard Game Scheduled for Friday.

To meet and defeat the Comus club basketball team at Beloit on Friday night, is the proposition which will be attempted by the Janesville Maroons. The Comus team has a clean record on its own floor where the Lakota Cardinals met their first defeat of the season. In the return game the Beloit team did not fare so well. The Maroon team will be composed as follows: Cunningham, Mott and Cunningham, guards; Wilson and French, forwards.

INDIGESTION AND RHEUMATISM

People With Good Digestion Do Not Have Rheumatism.

The blood is the product of digestion. Whatever sort of food is digested in the stomach is absorbed into the blood. If the food is badly digested this is also absorbed into the blood. If the food sours in the stomach before digestion or during digestion, the acids are absorbed into the blood.

These acids in the blood produce a condition known as rheumatism. The acids are liable to produce microscopic crystals. These crystals are deposited in the ligaments and cartilages, causing rheumatism of the joints. Sometimes in the bones, producing periodic pains every time a storm approaches. Sometimes in the muscles, producing lumbago, stiff neck, myalgia, and muscular rheumatism generally.

Per-muna Corrects Digestion. The reason that Per-muna relieves such cases is easy to understand. Per-muna corrects digestion. Per-muna corrects digestion partly by hurrying it. Per-muna does not furnish any artificial diastase, it simply assists Nature in doing its own digesting.

In this way the products of digestion are more normal. The blood is filled with perfectly digested food. No acids accumulate in the stomach while Per-muna is being taken. Thus rheumatism is prevented.

It is a great deal better to prevent a disease than to try to cure it. But even after rheumatism has begun the condition that caused it ought to be removed if possible.

Good Digestion Stops Rheumatism. The first thing to do is to secure good digestion, then if it is necessary specific medicines for rheumatism may be taken. But until the digestion is made perfect it is of little or no use to take medicines for rheumatism. To produce good digestion Per-muna should be taken.

BRODHEAD

Brodhead, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Frank Van Sprink passed away at her home in Spring Valley this morning after a short illness.

Mrs. J. Bowen died this morning at her home in Brodhead. She had been in failing health for some time.

Mrs. Robert Atwood and daughter Grace were in Janesville Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Condon were passengers to Rochester, Minnesota, Tuesday.

Mrs. Fred Arnold went to Stoughton Tuesday where she is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elba Sherboudy. She will take in the ski tournament.

Mrs. Arthur Dooley was a Janesville. There is about two inches of snow. The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. Wm. Hahn. Refreshments will be served by one of the divisions and a good attendance is desired.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Barnes of Port Washington, Wisconsin, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Barnes, have returned to their home.

Miss Beulah Bardwell has returned from a visit with her parents at Harvard, Illinois.

Rev. J. Lloyd Smith spent the fore part of the week in Platteville.

Mrs. Will Green of Orfordville, spent Tuesday with Brodhead relatives.

There is about two inches of snow but the sleighing is said to be very poor.

Ward and Knezel, our enterprising fur dealers, are arranging to erect a garage early in the spring.

PORTER

Porter, Jan. 28.—J. W. Bates and nephew, Charles, went to Chicago last week and invested in a carload of young cattle for feeding stock.

Will Schaefer has gone to Nebraska to visit relatives.

Farmers enjoyed a very short run of sleighing last week.

Albert Gundlock and sister have gone to Nebraska to visit relatives.

Miss Celia Bradley is reported very ill.

Mrs. Ida Bates was called to Linden, Wis., the first of last week, owing to the death of her mother.

Walter Becker has gone to Edgerton to work in tobacco.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Nichols were pleasantly surprised by a large number of their friends and neighbors on Friday evening. Progressive church formed the amusement until supper time. Thomas Condon and Miss Estelle Tierman won first honors, and Mrs. J. Wheeler and Fred Fessenden the consolation. After a delicious supper dancing was joined in by young and old. Before departing the delighted guests presented the host and hostess with an elegant rocker as a slight token of remembrance from their Porter friends. The Nichols family expect to move to Edgerton about April 1.

Daniel McCarthy was an over Sunday visitor in Janesville.

PLAN IMPROVEMENT OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Series of Meetings Announced for Next Sunday and Work in Interest of Monday.

The ministers, the Sunday school superintendents and the teachers of the city are planning for a series of meetings to be held next Sunday and Monday in the interest of better Sunday school work.

A company of Sunday school experts are touring the state in the interest of improved methods and will visit Janesville February 2 and 3. The company consists of Dr. McElfresh, Chicago, superintendent of the training department of the International association, a man of unusual ability in his department; Rev. F. H. Brigham, general secretary of the Wisconsin Sunday School association; and Miss Mabel Bailey, state elementary superintendent for Wisconsin.

The program of meetings provide for the first one in the Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, then in the Methodist church in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Monday meetings will be in the Presbyterian church as follows:

Pastors' conference, 10:30 a. m., general meeting, 2:30 p. m., and a social meeting, 7:30 p. m., at the evening at 7:30.

All these meetings are free and open to the public and everybody is cordially invited.

SETTLES SOUR, UPSET STOMACH IN FIVE MINUTES—PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

As Soon as it Reaches the Stomach all That Distressing Gas, Sourness, Heartburn and Indigestion Vanishes.

Time! In five minutes all stomach distress goes. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid, or eructations of indigestible food, no dizziness, boatings, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach doctor in the whole world and besides it is harmless and delightful. Millions of men and women now eat their favorite foods without fear—they know it is needless to have a bad stomach.

Get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Stop being miserable—life is so short—you are not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it; enjoy it; without fear of indigestion in the stomach.

Diapepsin belongs in your home. Should one of the family eat something which doesn't agree with them or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement it is there to give the quickest, surest relief known.

A Wall Street man was treasurer of the New York Giants when Amos Rusie was the best paid man in the team. The treasurer went out to the Polo grounds one day, and noticing that Rusie wasn't in the lineup called the manager over and wanted to know the reason why.

"He pitched yesterday," said the manager.

"Supposing he did," said the treasurer. "He's one of your best men, isn't he?"

"Yes."

"Put him in the right field, then," ordered the Wall Street magnate. "He's getting too much money to be losing."

Harry Gilmore, Jr., the Chicago boy, whose father, Harry Gilmore, the retired lightweight, was one of the best little men of his day, is now running a sporting journal in Los Angeles, Cal., called the Referee. In the recent issue Gilmore pays a tribute to Luther McCarty:

"Another Jim Corbett, only greater, is the prediction made by the wise ones. Their reference is made to the new heavyweight champion, Luther McCarty. This is none too great a prediction, and I am one to believe it is a most probable fact. Today McCarty is but a boy, yet he is of more sturdy build and probably possesses more strength than did Corbett at his best."

Sam Langford is suffering from ennui from knocking out Sam McVey so much. "Ah, won't fool wid dat man."

EVANSVILLE GAME IS NEXT ON LIST

High School Team Play First Game of Schedule Away From Home On Friday Night.

With the defeat of Stoughton by the local high school five it is evident that the Dane county team is out of the running for the state title. Janesville's next program is to humiliate Evansville's chances in the annual battle at that place on Friday night. The locals are fit for the fray, and with Dalton back in the lineup, they should win easily. The only drawback is the size of the Evansville gymnasium, which is a small affair, and the locals must be on the ball all the time in order to defeat their opponents.

One improvement on the local team is that Edler will play at his guard with Dalton as forward. This change will add to the playing strength and although Ryan played well at Edler's guard, it is generally conceded that Edler has more experience. Ryan is a good man, and will undoubtedly be given more chance to prove his worth. Hemming is improving at every practice. His alertness at basket shooting will help defeat many teams before the locals end their rise for state laurels.

Their easy victory over Stoughton was a real good practice game, and since Stoughton defeated Jefferson by a good score, Janesville has nothing to fear from this section. Racine is showing up well but the locals are only waiting to meet them.

Beloit will be seen on the local floor one week from Friday night, February 7th. The game then will probably be played in the afternoon at the close of school, so as to allow the debate to take place at night. It is thought that Beloit will be well represented here, both with a crowd of students and also with a brass band.

THREE GAMES TO ROBINS IN MATCH LAST EVENING

Blue Jays Crowd Close But Make Just Enough Points to Lose Contest.

Three straight games were won by the Robins in their match with the Blue Jays at Hocher's alleys last evening. The Blue Jays put up a hard fight but were always pines enough behind to lose. The Orioles and Larks meet tomorrow night at 7:15. Last night's scores were:

BASEBALL NOTES.

Ray Schalk, the brilliant backstop of the Chicago White Sox, is playing basketball with the Litchfield, Ill., team.

New York fans predict that Pitcher George McConell will surely be a winner under the tutelage of Manager Chance next season.

Texas, a member of the South Central League last year, will have a team in the Texas-Oklahoma League the coming season.

Manager George Stallings, of the Boston Nationals, will try out Cowdy, Calhoun, Metz and Meyers for the first base position with the Braves.

Harry Niles, the former St. Louis Boston outfielder, has been released by the Toledo Club of the American Association to Indianapolis.

The first inter-league series of 1913 will start on March 16, when the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Boston Champions meet at Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Arlie Latham, former big leaguer and comedian of the baseball diamond, has signed up as manager of the Grand Central Bowling Academy, New York.

President Comiskey, of the White Sox, is expecting great work from his Indian pitcher, George Murphy Johnson, who was a star in the Western League last season.

A band of Chicago rooters, friends of Joe Tinker, will journey to Cincinnati to welcome the new manager of the Reds on the occasion of the opening of the season.

The New England League and the Eastern Association are planning to have a post-season Class B championship series after the close of the regular season next September.

Word comes from the Red Sox headquarters that all the world's champions have signed up except pitchers Wood, O'Brien, Bedient, Collins and Hall; catchers Carigan, Thomas and Nannam; infielder Wagner and outfielder Speaker, Hooper and Lewis. That list comes very near being the entire Sox outfit.

All of the International League teams will go south this Spring to get into condition for the coming season. Toronto will train at Macon, Ga.; Baltimore at Fayetteville, N. C.; Rochester at Anniston, Ala.; Providence at Durham, N. C.; Buffalo at Charlotte, N. C.; Newark at Savannah, Ga.; Montreal at Charlottesville, Va.; and Jersey City will again go to Bermuda.

WITH THE BOXERS.

Mike Schreck, the old-time heavyweight, has quit the boxing game and taken up wrestling.

Johnny Summers, the welterweight champion of England, is on his way to Australia to engage in five battles. Another bout between Matt Wells and Hughie Mehegan, the Australian lightweight, will be staged in London, Feb. 24.

Ex-amateur heavyweight champion Phil Schossberg will be out of the Navy in eight months and will then take up boxing as a profession.

Fights Scheduled for Tonight.

Leach Cross vs. Young Shugrue, 10 rounds, at New York.

Phil Brown vs. Patsy Drouillard, 8 rounds, at Windsor, Ont.

TO INTRODUCE BILL TO LEGALIZE BOXING

Measure Planned After New York Statute Will be Presented Either Thursday or Friday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—A bill to legalize boxing in this state, drawn along the lines of the New York law, will be introduced in the assembly on either Thursday or Friday. It is understood that the measure is being prepared in Milwaukee, but that it will be introduced in the assembly by Assemblyman A. J. Hedding. Little information on the provisions of the bill could be obtained today. It is understood that it provides for a boxing commission of three members to be appointed by the governor. This commission may issue licenses for bouts. Not more than ten rounds will be permitted under the provisions of the bill. There seems to be strong sentiment among the Milwaukee delegation in the legislature in favor of such an act.

WILL MEET RACINE AT RINK ON FRIDAY

Janesville Polo Team Will Have Hard Game With Leaders of the League.

The Janesville roller polo team will clash with the Racine polo team Friday night at the local rink. The Janesville team has practiced faithfully at all available time and have several new players in the lineup which will greatly strengthen the team and as they are expert players and skaters they will add significant strength. The Racine team leads the league and is playing the best game of any team, having met and defeated all the teams except Janesville. The Janesville players are confident of holding their own with their opponents and expect to stop Racine's winning streak. The Kenosha team, who defeated the locals last week, have played the Racine team and were defeated. While this fact confronts the Janesville men they are confident that with their new players and additional practice they will secure a place among the leaders of the league.

Dary Jones.

Although one of the best outfielders in the American league, Dary Jones, whom the Detroit Tigers recently sold to the Chicago White Sox, has spent the best years of his career on the bench. He went to Detroit in 1905. During his seven years with the Tigers Jennings had those peerless gardeners, Cobb, Crawford and McNulty, always with him. So Jones had to eat his heart out on the bench. Now that he is getting old he is to be given a chance to play regularly and not as a utility man.

PETITION TO RECALL MAYOR FATHERS FILED

COMPLAINT IS SIMILAR

Expected That Petition Against Councilman Milmore Will be Filed Late Today or Tomorrow.

Enemies of the present city administration took the second step toward removing it from office late yesterday afternoon when they filed a petition signed by 927 electors of Janesville demanding the recall of Mayor Fathers and the calling of a special election for the election of his successor. The petitions were presented by Messrs. Frank Fisher, Charles Sykes, and John Kennedy and the charges against Mayor Fathers are the same as those made against Councilman Cummings, against whom petitions were filed last Saturday evening. The number of signatures is nine more than those on the Cummings petition, but thirteen new names are to be found, indicating that out of the number there were four who signed the Cummings petition, but not the one against Fathers. The new signatures were all made on Saturday and yesterday.

Petitions for the recall of Councilman Milmore will probably be filed this evening or within the next two or three days. As the petitions are identical except for a few signatures, the time needed to verify them will not be much greater than if but one petition had been filed. At the end of the ten days which the law gives the city clerk for this purpose he will certify to the council as to the sufficiency or insufficiency of the petitions, and his certification will undoubtedly contain an opinion of the city attorney as to their legal status. The promoters of the recall movement are confident that no flaws will be found sufficient to justify the rejection of the petitions and are perfecting their organization and laying wires for the campaign that is to follow. Steps are also being taken to crystallize and organize support for the present city council.

CONVENTION IS HELD BY REBEKAH LODGES

One Hundred and Fifty or More Surrounding Cities Present at District Meeting Here Today.

One hundred and fifty or more Rebekahs, representing lodges in Beloit, Milton, Fort Atkinson, Delavan, Whitewater, and Monona, attended the district convention of the order held at East Side Odd Fellows hall in this city today. Beloit lodges were very well represented and the Monroe delegation brought with them a Swiss quartet which contributed several selections to the entertainment part of the program. Mrs. C. W. Cram of Milton president of the district organization, presided over the session. American Lodge, No. 24, was host to the visitors and this evening will serve them a six o'clock dinner which will be followed by a musical and literary program.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH SCENE OF WEDDING

Miss Nora Cassidy of This City Becomes Bride of Alex Dunphy of Evansville.

Miss Nora Cassidy of this city and Alex Dunphy of Evansville, were united in marriage at St. Mary's church early this morning. The marriage service was read by the Rev. Father W. A. Gobel in the presence of a company of friends and relatives. Miss Genevieve Dunphy attended the bride and Dr. McElroy, a cousin of the groom, was groomsmen.

After the ceremony the bridal party enjoyed a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's father, 509 Glenn street. Mr. and Mrs. Dunphy left this morning on a wedding journey after which they will be at home on the groom's farm near Evansville.

The bride has a large circle of friends in Janesville, where she has always made her home. Mr. Dunphy is the only son of Thomas Dunphy of Evansville.

Koerner Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. Gust. Schieffelin and Mrs. Herman Schieffelin were the witnesses. Mr. and Mrs. Bartels will reside in the town of Janesville.

PROF. TAYLOR'S PUPILS IN DELIGHTFUL MUSICAL

Fine Entertainment of Songs Followed by Operetta, "Love and Whist."

A musical was given Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian church by Prof. J. S. Taylor's pupils. Those taking part in the opening numbers of the program were: Miss Belle McCullough, Mr. Percel and Dr. Richards. This was followed by an operetta, entitled, "Love and Whist." Those taking parts were: Miss McCullough, Lella Soverhill, Ada Lewis, and Arthur Schoof and E. Mead. Miss Marjorie Bennett was the accompanist. It was a very delightful entertainment, showing much study on the part of the pupils. It was thoroughly enjoyed by the invited guests.

Pool Tournament: The pocket billiard tournament at the Elks' club opens this evening. The handicaps and lists are to be found at the club. Those who have not yet entered can leave their names with Mr. Lynch at the club rooms.

BEET GROWERS MEET TO ADOPT CONTRACT AND NAME OFFICERS

H. C. Hemingway President of Rock County Organization—Want Flat Rate of $6 a Ton Net.

Eighty farmers interested in raising sugar beets, held a meeting at the city hall assembly room on Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of completing the organization which was started last week and to adopt a contract which they believe to be reasonable.

The officers of the organization known as the Beet Growers' Association of Rock County and Neighboring Counties, were elected as follows: H. C. Hemingway, town of Janesville, president; C. E. Richards of Milton Junction, secretary; and Alfred W. Big, Janesville, treasurer. George Sayer of Milton and Frank Hutchins of Milton Junction were named as members of the executive committee. The board of directors named at the last meeting of the growers reported a contract which they recommended as equitable to the farmers and to the sugar company and asked its adoption. The members present ratified the contract which among other provisions that the growers shall be paid a flat rate of $6 per ton for beets.

The provisions of the contract as accepted were as follows:

"First: A flat rate of six dollars per ton net."

"Second: The weighing and taring of all beets at the growers shipping station."

"Third: The acceptance of the crop at the shipping stations as fast as the growers can deliver it."

"Fourth: Payment on the fifteenth of each month for all beets delivered the month previous."

"Fifth: An early opening of the shipping season."

"Sixth: If grower prefers hand labor, beet companies shall furnish same at a cost not to exceed twenty-one dollars per acre. The grower to control labor where it is possible to get satisfactory or reasonable care and satisfaction. Growers otherwise on complaint of the grower the sugar companies are to be responsible."

In addition to the contract terms as given above the directors reported a list of comments explaining their reasons for each provision of the contract. They are as follows:

"On Specification 1. The taking of a few beets from a load now and then will not furnish a sure measure of the sugar contents of the crop, and these few beets, if taken, will be a satisfactory one. Then the sending of samples to the factory to be tested in the company's laboratory and reported on after the beets for which the same sample was taken have passed out of the growers' hands, is not good business practice and should not be accepted in the contracts by any self-respecting grower. Therefore we hold that until some better method of testing has been established a flat rate is much to be preferred."

"On specification 2. Taring beets at the factory is also poor business practice and should not be accepted in a contract."

"On Specification 3. The beet crop is a contract crop. It is not grown for the general market, but for a party to the contract, the title to the crop lies with the sugar companies. The matured crop is their property. They should take all the risk of it after harvesting."

"On Specification 4. We feel it no more than fair the grower should receive pay on the fifteenth of each month for beets delivered or loaded the month previous, instead of beets received and unloaded by the beet companies, which means days and even weeks delay."

"On Specification 5. Growers should companies where the companies furnish early opening of the shipping season, by sowing a part of their crop early and holding themselves ready to start delivering as soon as the crop is ripe."

"On Specification 6. The grower should also co-operate with the beet companies where the companies furnish the labor, in the control of the labor. We realize the labor is becoming more independent, and we feel it will be necessary to work hand in hand with the beet companies, but if the labor is uncontrollable to get reasonable results, then on complaint of the grower, the beet companies should give immediate attention, and in failure to do so should be responsible for the damage to the crop."

A general discussion of the contract followed its presentation, and copies of the same will be sent to every beet grower in this section. The directors of the association will confer with the sugar company and a meeting of the association will be called at some later date. Among those who addressed the meeting yesterday was A. J. Even-son of Whitewater, who was named on the board from his station. Similar organizations have been formed in Racine, Kenosha and in the northern sections of the state.

MOTOR DELIVERY WAGON IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire Department Called Out at Seven O'clock This Morning to Park Hotel Garage.

The Flanders delivery automobile of the Roesling Grocery Company caught fire this morning in the Park Hotel garage on South Bluff street and the fire department was telephoned for at about five minutes past seven. When the department arrived the entire front end was ablaze but the fire was extinguished with chemicals before the flames spread to the body of the vehicle. All the wiring around the engine was burned away and the dashboard badly damaged. In cold weather it is customary to prime the engine with gasoline through the pet-cocks and it is believed that gasoline spilled over the engine and was ignited by a short-circuit in the wiring.

EXTRADITION PAPERS SECURED FOR WESTON

Governor McGovern Signed Necessary Documents Early Last Evening—Chief Appley Goes to Albany.

Extradition papers for John J. Weston, wanted in this city to answer a charge of embezzling from the Rock River Woolen Mills, were signed by Governor McGovern early last evening and Chief of Police George Appley left at 4:50 o'clock this morning for Albany, New York, to present the papers to Governor Sulzer for his approval and signature. He is expected to arrive in Albany early tomorrow morning, but may not leave there for Buffalo until tomorrow night or early the next morning. It will probably be Sunday night before Weston is brought back to this city.

District Attorney Stanley Dunwiddie had the extradition papers and necessary accompanying documents drawn up yesterday afternoon, and Patrolman Sam Brown was sent to Madison with them on the Northwestern train leaving at 4:15 o'clock. Governor McGovern was sent a telephone message informing him that an officer was on the way with the papers and requesting that he remain at the office until his arrival. Officer Brown reached Madison soon after six o'clock and was able to get the papers signed and sealed in time to return to Janesville at 9:30 o'clock last evening.

GOMPERS DENOUNCES ARBITRATION BILLS

Declares That Workers Would Never Submit to Compulsory Settlement Such As Is Proposed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Jan. 29.—Compulsory arbitration was denounced today by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor in a speech before the annual meeting of the national Civic Federation. Mr. Gompers declared the workers would never submit to arbitration such as that proposed by bills now before the New York state legislature.

"I agree with you as to the desirability of preventing a strike he said, 'but don't imagine you are going to escape them by attempting to make perfectly natural activities unlawful. The attempt to get away from strike by the methods proposed is simply the attempt to compress steam of power in a too limited space. You may do that for a while but you will have an explosion from which no power on earth is potent to protect."

"You may make the stoppage of work illegal, but you won't stop the assertion of the right of workers to stop working. You want to get away from the turmoils resultant from industrial creditors and I want to join you in that. But for heaven's sake don't burden our laws or our system."

The Poet Philosopher

BY WALT MASON

Young Abner Wax is built to plow, and hoe the beet and carrot, but he is full of longing now to be a Lawrence Barrett. In dreams he proudly treads the stage, the people's MISGUIDED praise, deserving, and AMBITIOUS, discounts, in his noble rage, E. Booth and Henry Irving. His poor old dad has pawned his mules to help Ab learn dramatics, and he's attending "meio" schools in dark and dusty attics. And he can strike an awful pose, this poor misguided gooser, and say "Poor Yorick!" through his nose, and murmur "Julius Caesar." The local critics all agree that he's amusing, very, but he is sure that he will be another Ellen Terry. His foolish parents think he's fine, whose head is swelled with drowsy, and hope some day to see him shine as Uncle Tom or Topsy. Ah no one care to interfere, and tell this foolish fellow that farming is his proper sphere, and not the sere and melo. Ten thousand Ahs in countless towns their proper work are spinning; they reach for brushes, lures or gowns, and should be busy churning. And silly parents urge them on and innocent bystanders can only cry: "So help me John! The world is full of ganders!"

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY
An active year awaits you with great advantages in experience, but with little pecuniary success. If you are employed it will take much cleverness and attention, on your part, to satisfy your employer and yourself. Those born today will have original ideas and should be encouraged to work these out, for their signs confer inventive genius. Some important discovery may be the result of their work. Their danger will be from too great specialization, and plenty of active recreation, with cheerful companions, is therefore necessary.

MRS. JOB HACKWELL BURIED SATURDAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Fairfield, Jan. 28.—Mrs. J. Hackwell passed away at her home south of this village Thursday afternoon, Jan. 23, after a lingering illness. Sarah Buckland, the youngest daughter of Henry and Susan Buckland, was born April 11, 1833 in North Parvett, in the county of Somerset, England. She came to the United States when twenty-five years of age and made her home in Eagle, Wis. On Oct. 24, 1858, at Troy, Wis., she was united in marriage to Job Hackwell. They made their home at Troy and Heart Prairie for three years and then moved to Richmond, where they resided thirteen years. In 1874 they moved to Bradford and for thirty-nine years have labored together in the home from which she was called by the death angel. On Jan. 23, 1913, Mrs. Hackwell united with the M. E. church at Richmond, at the time the church was organized there. Later she joined the church at Fairfield and has been a consistent member.

For thirty-four years she has been in very poor health, but bore her trials with true Christian fortitude. Six weeks ago she was stricken with her last sickness.

She leaves to mourn her loss an aged husband and five children: Mary, George and Frances of the home; Mrs. Charles Holstein of Des Moines, Kan.; and Charles Hackwell of Avalon.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. S. Luge, assisted by Rev. Simonson, Saturday afternoon at the church. Interment was made at Darien. The music was rendered by Rev. Luge and Mesdames Baldwin and Wilkins.

A. L. Thomson is numbered among the sick.

Miss Lizzie Hume of Milton spent Sunday with the home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tarrent left Saturday for Minneapolis for a visit with relatives.

A number from this section attended the M. W. A. installation and U. N. A. installation at Darien, Friday night. All report having a fine time.

Mrs. A. C. Clowes was a week-end guest of her daughter, Mrs. Ruby Wise in Milwaukee.

Miss Gertrude Churchill of Delavan was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Charles Starin last week.

Mrs. Clara Serl spent the last of the week in Milton.

When Mr. Corning was returning from Delavan Saturday one wheel came off his wagon, throwing him to the ground. No bones were broken, but he was badly shaken up.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Stewart, Earl and Dorothy of Delavan, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stewart Sunday.

A. Baldwin is suffering with blood poison in his hand.

Bert Baldwin of Walworth is visiting his father.

Mrs. Frederick of Belvidere, Ill., Mr. Munroe and daughter, Mrs. Gardner of Clinton, Mrs. Allie Rokenbrodt and Mr. Dodge of Avalon attended the funeral of Mrs. Hackwell.

Harper.

The Misses Evaline Cushman and Ada McCoy of Evansville, spent Friday night with the latter's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. McCoy and attended the party at John Eastman's.

Friday evening the Busy Bees and Beaver Boys, with their teachers, Mrs. E. B. Arnold and Minnie Harper, as well as their pastor, Rev. E. B. Arnold, were invited to John Eastman's home as guests of their daughters, Misses Maud May and Alice Eastman. After the business meeting of the Busy Bees games were indulged in and during the evening the hostesses served an oyster supper with other good things to eat. Before the guests departed they presented the Misses Maud and Alice with a silver spoon each and other gifts in anticipation of their soon coming birthday. A splendid time is the report of the guests who numbered over thirty.

EMERALD GROVE

Emerald Grove, Jan. 28.—Word has been received here that William Davis, a former resident of this place, but now a member of the soldiers' home, was married Jan. 15, to a lady at the home.

Prof. Upham gave an address at the M. E. church Friday evening, taking for his subject, "The Kind of a School I Would Like to See," which was interesting and well attended.

Two games of basketball were played here in Norton's hall Saturday evening. In a game between the Stoughton high school and the Brooklyn Juniors the score was 40 to 8 in favor of the latter. The former showed good team work but the latter was much too fast for them. The other game was played between Sun Prairie high school and the local high school. The former won by a score of 18 to 17. Both teams were well matched and made a good showing.

New Window Device.

In the construction of houses sash weights are being largely dispensed with, automatic devices taking the place of the weights. This innovation is said to greatly simplify and economize the operation of finishing houses.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

(By Howard L. Rann.)

MILK is a pale blue beverage which is coaxed from the lowing kine with the bare hands, allowed to ferment and then sold to the ultimate consumer by the half pint. Nearly all of the milk which is sold to strangers has to be adulterated with a good quality of cistern water. In the ratio of about 15 to 1, in order to prevent the purchaser from becoming inebriated.

Milk is manufactured in large quantities by the domestic cow, which stores it up during the day time and less-go of it hurriedly in the hush of twilight, at the request of the hired man. Whenever the hired man meets a cow which household duty, he appeals to her finer nature by striking her heavily with both feet.

Sometimes this renders the cow dissatisfied, and she retaliates by running one leg through the milk pail.

When milk has stood around in comparative idleness for several hours without being tampered with by the cat, it grows a rich yellow roosting, called cream, which is skimmed off several inches below the surface. What is left is then bottled and sold to people whose stomachs are perfectly fearless. No cream is allowed to enter a milk bottle unless the proprietor of the dairy is afflicted with attacks of intermittent blindness.

Milk never turns sour until it is time to spray it into the morning coffee, when it has to be revived with sal soda. If it has gone so far that a milkmaid can't reach it, it is used as a substitute for lemon extract in making pies, pancakes and dyspeptics.

Condensed milk is a pre-shrunken product which is considered a great delicacy by people who have never seen any kind of cream except the complexion bleach. It will keep indefinitely in the house of a man who has once lived on a farm.

Buttermilk is a salubrious by-product which can be enjoyed by anybody with a cultivated taste and a fastidious will. It is harder to cultivate a deep thirst for buttermilk than it is to read Browning without going to sleep.

Mothers Resented Charity.

A TALE OF THE FRONTIER

Illustrations by J. L. Barnes

"That! Yes, and a thousand times more! I had ambition once, opportunity, even wealth. They were swept away by a man's life, a woman's perfidy. Out of that wreck, I crawled into the world again a mere thing. I lived simply because I must live, skulking in obscurity, my only inspiration the hope of an honorable death or an opportunity for vengeance. Mine was the life of the ranks in the desert, associating with the lowest scum, in constant contact with savagery. I could not speak to a decent woman, or be a man among men. There was nothing left me but to brood over wrongs, and plot revenge. I became morose, savage, a mere creature of discipline, food for powder. It was no more when I first met you. But with that meeting the chains snapped, the old ambitions of life returned. You were a mere girl from the East; you did not understand, nor care about the snobbery of army life. No, it was not that—you were above it. You trusted me, treated me as a friend, almost as an equal. I loved you then, when we parted on the trail, but I went back to New Mexico to fight fate. It was such a hopeless dream, yet all summer long I rode with memory tugging at my heart. I grew to hate myself, but could never forget you."

She drew nearer, her hand upon his arm, her face uplifted.
"And you thought I did not care?"
"How could I dream you did?" almost bitterly. "You were gracious, kind—but you were a major's daughter, as far away from me as the stars. I never heard from you; not even a rumor of your whereabouts came to me across the plains. I supposed you had returned East; had passed out of my life forever. Then that night when we rode into Dodge I saw you again—saw you in the yellow lamp light, watching us pass, heard you ask what troops those were, and I knew instantly all my fighting out there in the desert had been vain—that you were forever the one, one woman."
"I remained for that," she confessed softly, her lashes wet.
"At Dodge?"
"Yes, at Dodge. I knew you would come, must come. Some intuition seemed to tell me that we should meet again. Oh, I was so happy the night you came! No one had told me your troop had been ordered in. It was like a dream come true. When I saw you leading your horse across the parade I could hardly refrain from calling out to you before them all. I did not care what they thought—for my soldier had come home from the wars."
"Sweetheart," the deep voice faltered, "may—I kiss you?"
"Of course you may."
Their lips met, and she clung to him as his arms held her closely. It was like a dream to him, this sudden, unexpected surrender. Perhaps she read this in his eyes.
"Do not misunderstand me," she urged softly. "I do not come to you because of what has happened, because I am alone and helpless. If you had stepped from the ranks that night at Dodge, I would have answered even as I do now."

"You love me?—love me?" he repeated.
"Yes."

Even as he looked down upon her upturned face, there was borne back upon him a realization of their predicament. His eyes swept over the surrounding desolation, the two dead bodies lying motionless in the snow, the stifling pony, the drear hillside which shut them in. The sight brought him back to consciousness with a shock. Minutes might mean much now. Dupont had disappeared over that ridge to the right, in the direction of Black Kettle's camp. How far away that might be was altogether guess work, yet what would inevitably occur when the fugitive arrived among his friends, and told his story, could be clearly conceived. Even if the man believed Hamlin killed, he would recall to mind the girl and would return to assure himself as to her fate. Knowing her helplessness, the practical impossibility of her escape alone, a return expedition might not be hurried yet, beyond doubt, this isolated valley would have Indian visitors within a few hours. And when these discovered the truth they would be hot upon a trail where concealment was impossible. The only hope of escape, and that far from brilliant—as he remembered the long desert ride from the distant cow camp on the Cimarron—lay in immediate departure. Every moment of delay served to increase their peril. Even beyond the danger of Dupont's report to Black Kettle, this snow-bound valley was not so far away from that chief's camp as to be safe from invasion by young warriors in search of game. All this flashed upon Hamlin's consciousness instantly, even as his heart thrilled to her frank avowal.

"This is so strange I can hardly realize the truth," he said gravely. "But, dear one, we must talk elsewhere, and not here. Life was never before worth so much as it is now, and every instant we waste here may mean capture and death. Come, there are two ponies at the mouth of the valley."
He snatched up the blanket from the ground, and wrapped it about her in such manner as to enable her to walk; stooped over Hughes, loosened the revolver from his stiffened fingers, and then came back to where she waited.

"You can walk? It is not far."
"Yes, the numbness is all gone."
He was all seriousness now, alert and watchful, the plainsman and the soldier.

"Then come; I'll break trail."
"Where is the Indian village?" she asked, her voice trembling slightly.
"Beyond those bluffs; at least Hughes thought so. We saw their pony herd in the valley below, mere dots against the snow."
Ten minutes later, plowing through the intervening drifts, they came forth to the broad vista of the valley and the two patient ponies standing motionless.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

Molly's Story.
The two rode steadily, following the trail left by Hamlin and Hughes earlier in the morning. As there had been no wind, and the cold had crusted the snow, the tracks left by the two ponies were easily followed. As they skirted the ridge the Indian pony

herd could be distinguished, sufficiently close by this time to leave no doubt as to what they were. Hamlin cautiously kept back out of sight in the breaks of the ridge, although his keen eyes, searching the upper valley, discovered no sign of pursuit. Tired as Dupont's horse undoubtedly was, he might not yet have attained the Indian encampment, which, in truth, might be much farther away than Hughes had supposed. The fact that no spirals of smoke were visible puzzled the Sergeant, for in that frosty air they should naturally be perceived for a considerable distance. Possibly, however, the bluffs were higher and more abrupt, farther up stream, affording better chances of concealment. Indeed it was quite probable that the Indians would seek the most sheltered spot available for their winter camp, irrespective of any possible fear of attack. Reasonably safe from a winter campaign, the atrocities of the past summer would naturally tend to make them unusually cautious and watchful.

Molly, muffled to the eyes in her thick blanket, permitted her pony to follow the other without guidance, until they both dipped down into the hollow, safe from any possible observation. In some mysterious way the overpowering feeling of terror which had controlled her for days past had departed. The mere presence of Hamlin was an assurance of safety. As she watched him, erect in saddle, his blue overcoat tightly buttoned, his revolver belt strapped outside, she no longer felt any consciousness of the surrounding desolation or the nearness of savage foes. Her heart beat fast and her cheeks flushed in memory of what had so swiftly occurred between them. Without thought, or struggle, she gave herself unreservedly to his guidance, serenely confident in his power to succeed. He was a man so strong, so resourceful, so fitted to the environment, that her trust in him was unquestioned. She needed to ask nothing; was content to follow in silence. Even as she realized the completeness of her surrender, the Sergeant, relaxing none of his watchfulness, checked his pony so that they could ride onward side by side.

"We will follow the trail back," he explained, glancing aside at her face. "It is easier to follow than to strike out for ourselves across the open."
"Where does it lead?"
"To an old cow-camp on the Cimarron. There is a trooper there waiting. Shall I tell you the story?"
"And then I am to have yours in return—everything?"
"Yes," she said, and their eyes met. "There is nothing to conceal—from you."

He told his tale simply, and in few words; how he had missed, and sought after her in Dodge; how that searching had led directly to the discovery of crime, and finally the revelation of Major McDonald's body. He told of his efforts at organizing a party to follow the fugitives, inspired by a belief that she was a prisoner, of the trip through the blizzard, and of how he had succeeded in outstripping Dupont in the race.

The girl listened silently, able from her own experience to fill in the details of that relentless pursuit, which could not be halted either by storm or bullets. The strength, the determination of the man, appealed to her with new force, and tears welled into her eyes.

"Why, you are crying!" he exclaimed in surprise.

"That is nothing," her lips smiling, as she loosened one hand from the blanket and reached across to clasp his. "You must know, dear, how happy I am to have found you. No one else could have done this."

"Oh, yes, little girl," soberly. "Wasn't you would have gone on, if I had been the one to go down. The hardest part of it all was waiting for the storm to cease, not knowing where you were hidden—that nearly drove me insane."
"I understand; uncertainty is harder to bear than anything else. Shall I tell you now what happened to me?"
"Yes," tenderly, "as much, or as little as you please."

"Then it shall be everything dear," her hand-clasp tightening. A moment she hesitated, looking out across the snow plains, and then back into his eyes. From their expression she gained courage to proceed, her voice low, yet clear enough to make every syllable distinctly audible.

"I—I was frightened when you left me alone on the balcony, and went in to confront Mrs. Dupont. I knew the woman and suspected that she would only be too glad to find some indiscretion she could use against me. It occurred to me that possibly she had seen me enter the parlor and was there herself to make sure. If so, she would hesitate at no trick to verify her suspicions. This thought so took possession of me that I determined to escape if possible. And it appeared easy of accomplishment. There was but a short drop to the ground, while a few steps around the end of the hotel would bring me safely to the front entrance. The temptation to try was irresistible. I heard your voices within and thought I understood her game. It was dark below, yet I knew how close the earth was, and there was no sign of any one about. I clambered over the railing, let myself down as far as I could, and dropped. The slight fall did not even jar me, yet I was none too soon. As I crouched there in the darkness, she flung open the curtains, and looked out to the vacant balcony. I saw the flash of light, and heard her laugh—it was not pleasant laughter; for she was disappointed not to find me there. After the curtains fell again I could no longer hear your voices, and my sole desire was to get back into the hotel unobserved. I was not afraid, only I dreaded to meet any one who might recognize me."

DINNER STORIES

"The last time I gave you money," said the kindly old lady, "you promised you wouldn't walk right into a saloon and spend it."
"That's right, lady," said the tramp.
"Yes; but as soon as you got the money you did."
"Say, lady, don't you know the difference between a walk and a sprint?"

A little Central American republic was busily preparing for war, as a neighboring republic was daily threatening an invasion of her territory; and all available means were being picked up and "recruited" in order that they might learn to fight and die, if need be, for their beloved country. A batch of twenty had just arrived on the scene, and their leader handed a note to the general in command of the government troops, which read as follows: Illustrious general—The bearer of this note will have the honor to turn over to you twenty volunteers. Please return the troops.

In the sixth grade at Irving School the teacher was questioning a boy about Napoleon's disastrous invasion of Russia and the subsequent retreat from Moscow.

"What did the French do then?" she asked.

"They ran away," said the boy.

The boy's face lighted up with understanding.

"They beat it!" he exclaimed proudly.—Kansas City Star.

Superstition of "The King's Evil." "James I., when he was brought to England, had strong theological objections to the old superstition of the royal gift of healing, and requested to be spared from performing the traditional ceremony. His English advisers, however, were well aware of the peculiar value set upon it in the southern kingdom, and urged that to relinquish it would rob the crown of a portion of its dignity. James prudently resigned himself."—"The King's Evil," by Raymond Crawford.

Case After Case

Plenty More Like This in Janesville. Scores of Janesville people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, 118 Terrace St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I was a sufferer from kidney trouble for ten or twelve years. My kidneys became sluggish and their failure to do their work properly caused me to become weak and helpless. The kidney secretions were unnatural and often my joints were sore and swollen. I had almost given up hope of getting relief when I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a supply at the People's Drug Co., and they soon restored my kidneys to a normal condition. I advise other kidney sufferers to try this remedy. I take pleasure in again recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and advising their use in all cases of kidney trouble. I am still free from kidney complaint and my back does not bother me to any extent."

POLITICAL ACTIVITY

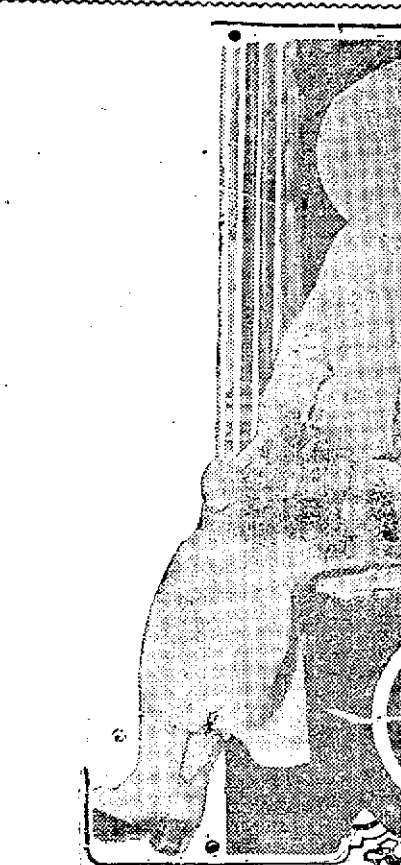

Mrs. Helen Dorich Longstreet.
Mrs. Helen Dorich Longstreet, widow of the famous Confederate general and postmistress at Gainesville, Ga., is threatened with removal from office by President Taft because of her "pernicious political activity." She received her appointment under the Roosevelt administration and was an ardent supporter of the colonel in his candidacy against President Taft. She was an accredited delegate from Georgia to the Bull Moose convention at Chicago. The Republicans of Georgia have not greeted Mrs. Longstreet's course with applause.

WALKED HIMSELF INTO HEALTH.

We do not walk enough. The automobile, trolley, railroad and other means of transit have robbed us of the most healthful and pleasurable of exercises.

Here is a story of a man who used walking as a medicine. It made him well.

His name is Robert E. Hillman, and he lives in Waterville, Me. Six years ago, when Hillman was twenty-four years old, his doctors told him that he had not more than six months to live. He was in an advanced stage of tuberculosis.

A friend advised him to "get plenty of fresh air; get out and walk, eat vegetables and drink plenty of water and fresh milk."

Hillman followed his friend's counsel. He started to walk and kept it up for six years. He walked across the continent and most of the way back.

To pay his way he sold a kitchen utensil. Last December he arrived in Memphis, from where he took a train back to his old home in Waterville. He not only made enough from his sales to keep him the six years, but had sufficient surplus to buy his ticket and then some.

Better still, he had his health. Physicians pronounced him a well man and said he could live anywhere.

He had returned to nature's remedies—wholesome exercise, the sweet air of the out of doors, plenty of food.

Walking is good not only for sick people, but for well people. It keeps them well.

It exercises practically every muscle of the body. It causes us to breathe into the bottoms of the lungs.

It is a sovereign cure for dyspepsia and kindred ills. For it whets the edge of appetite, stimulates digestion and tones up the whole system.

Robert Hillman walked away from death. In the race his grisly majesty dropped farther and farther to the rear until at last he was out of the running.

The young man did more than save his life. He showed a fine type of courage in taking up a humble calling. He made friends all over the land. He came to know his country more intimately than he could have done in any other way. He gained the respect of all who know him. He set a worthy example for others to follow, which is itself a high privilege.

ENDS NEGOTIATIONS

BALKAN STATES SEND WORD THAT PEACE CONFERENCE IS OVER ALTHOUGH ARMS-TICE CONTINUES.

TURKEY HARD PRESSED

Ottoman Government May Be Forced to Yield Owing to Existing Conditions—Powers Watching Situation.

London, Jan. 29.—The note drafted by the peace delegates of the allies was delivered by Stojan Novakovich, head of the Serbian delegation to Rehad Pasha, shortly after noon today.

The determining factor impelling the allies to this course of action was the receipt of reports during the night and again this morning, of grave ferment among the Turkish troops stationed on the Tchataldja lines, large portions of whom appear to be unwilling to follow the lead of the young Turks.

At Critical Time.
It is considered here that in view of the international complications in Turkey, Mahmoud Sheket Pasha, the new grand vizier, may yield before the energetic act of the allies. The gravity of the situation at Constantinople is shown by the large naval forces concentrated by the European powers at the entrance to the Dardanelles.

Even Austria-Hungary, which in the past has refused to join the other powers in naval coercive measures, has now ordered two warships to be in readiness to start for the east at any moment.

While the allies are gathering over Constantinople the astronomers who make a study of the European ferment, consider that the general peace of Europe is no longer in danger. As a proof of this they point out that Italy has just disbanded an army of 100,000 soldiers who served in Tripoli.

Aid of Powers.
Rehad Pasha this morning expressed the hope that the powers, "realizing the unfair treatment which has been inflicted on Turkey," would help the porte to surmount its present difficulties, "thus insuring the definite political and economic settlement of the whole eastern problem." Several members of the Bulgarian peace mission left London today, including Theodoroff, the Bulgarian minister of finance.

The text of the note to Rehad Pasha, handed him by the Balkan delegates, follows:

"The plenipotentiaries of the allied Balkan states having since the suspension of the work of the peace conference awaited in vain for three weeks the reply of the Ottoman plenipotentiaries to their last demands and events which have occurred in Constantinople appearing to have destroyed hope of arriving at the conclusion of peace are to their great regret obliged to declare that the peace negotiations commenced in London on December 16th last, are broken off."

The note does not denounce the armistice. This will devolve on the government of the Balkan states.

Germany's Warning.
Constantinople, Jan. 29.—"Hands off all the Turkish possessions in Asia" was Germany's pointed notification today to everyone concerned. It was given by the German ambassador to Turkey in the course of a speech at the Teutonic Club's annual dinner in honor of Emperor William's birthday.

"The future of Turkey lies in Asia Minor," Baron Hans von Wangenheim told an enthusiastic gathering of his countrymen.

He continued, "The German interests in Asia Minor are great and are bound up with those of Turkey. The recent note of the European powers promised that Turkey would be aided in her future development. Germany will lend powerful assistance in this cause."

"In any case, however, to all the Turkish possessions in Asia Germany will attach the label 'touch me not.'"

Constantinople, Jan. 29.—Important concessions will, it is expected, be made by Turkey in her reply to the joint note of the European powers. The response will be handed to Margrave Johann de Pala, Austria Hungarian ambassador to Turkey, as being of the diplomatic corps here, either this evening or tomorrow morning. The basis of the solution proposed by Turkey, it is said, will be different from any yet mooted.

Green Bay Man Seeks $100,000 From Pulp and Paper Company As Result of Controversy.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 29.—Arguments will be made in federal court in Milwaukee before Judge Geiger in which Edward A. Edmonds, former republican state central committee chairman, and the Spanish River Pulp and Paper company of Espanola, Canada, are parties. P. H. Martin of this city will represent Mr. Edmonds. The action is the result of an agreement made by Mr. Edmonds to buy the mill and property of the Spanish River Pulp and Paper company for $2,160,000. A contract was drawn and agreed upon by the directors of the company in April, 1907, and the sum of $100,000 was paid by the purchaser in May of that year. In the meantime a controversy arose over the title to the land which was overflowed by water from the paper mill dam.

The company assured Mr. Edmonds of a clear title and represented to him, it is said, they had a clear title to the crown land. Edmonds stood ready in 1908 to pay one million dollars more on the deal, but withdrew, alleging that the company could not and did not give him clear title to the lands. He is now suing to recover $100,000 he paid in to bind the deal. The company claims it has a good title to the lands.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Minn., Jan. 29.—The Rev. Emanuel Ekeland, of Lake Shore township, Lac Qui Parle county, according to deputy fire marshals has confessed that he burned his own house and barn, January 20th, and that he burned his automobile last June. He was placed under arrest. On the day of the fire he said he was awakened early to find his home in flames, and that as he was trying to get from the house he was struck twice on the head by an unseen assailant but regained consciousness in time to escape only to find his barn also burning. He also told of receiving anonymous letters threatening his life. Ekeland's alleged confession came after an investigation of the fire made by deputy state fire marshals from St. Paul.

ASK INDETERMINATE
SENTENCE LAW FOR

Habitual Criminal Act Also Recommended by State Board of Control in Annual Report—Need

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—Strong necessity for an indeterminate sentence in the interest of justice is emphasized by the state board of control in its biennial report submitted to the governor. This and an habitual criminal act are recommended for enactment by the present legislature.

Calling attention to the penalty for horse stealing, the board says:

"It is out of all proportion to the punishment imposed for grand larceny. There is no apparent reason why a man should be committed to state's prison for a longer term for stealing a horse than for stealing a cow of equal value. Since the advent of the automobile and the electric car and the flying machine, the horse has lost that almost sacred recognition, but the punishment for his theft remains unchanged. Many other instances might be cited."

The modified form of the indeterminate sentence law favored by the board imposes upon a person convicted not less than the minimum nor more than the maximum provided by law, and gives to the parole board the power to parole when in the opinion of the board and the governor such person is fit to be released on parole. "Minnesota's experience with such a law has been satisfactory," says the report.

The repeated commitment of habitual criminals is called "utter nonsense," and a law urged permitting confinement of such offenders as the state requires of the insane or feeble minded.

Recommended Appropriations.

The following appropriations are recommended:
State Hospital for Insane, $326,000
Northern Hospital for Insane, $374,500
Wisconsin School for the Deaf, $148,500
State School for the Blind, $155,500
Industrial School for Boys, $195,000
Wisconsin State Prison, $282,000
State Public School, $203,100
Home for the Feeble Minded, $241,000
State Reformatory, $159,000
State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, $219,500
Wisconsin Workshop for the Blind, $15,000
Hospital for Criminal Insane, $153,000
This calls for a total appropriation for the state institutions of $2,477,000. In addition, an appropriation of $100,000 for a site and $150,000 for construction of a new home for the feeble minded is urged, and the building of a reformatory for women is recommended.

Items of Report.

Purchases by the board amount to over a million dollars annually. The work has multiplied so that continuous sessions are necessary. Inspections of jails, asylums, etc., should be entrusted to agents of the board to reduce the burden, the report adds. Such institutions include 34 county asylums, 42 poorhouses, four city schoolhouses, 70 county jails, 318 police stations and lockups, and two county senatoria, and 88 private benevolent institutions. Two home finding societies were licensed and one, at Green Bay, was denied. Licensing of private senatoria for insane, feeble minded and nervous patients is advised. The northwest portion of the state, exclusive of Douglas county is in need of insane asylums, the report says. Convict highway labor is approved, but not if armed guards are needed. The Colorado system is advised. An indeterminate sentence law is first essential. At the state prison, praise is given to the Paramount Knitting company, holder of the convict labor contract, for its treatment of the prisoners and obedience to the terms of the state.

Binder Twine Plant.

The board granted 150 paroles from the Green Bay reformatory during the biennium, and 127 from the state prison. No armed guards are employed on the prison farm and there were no attempts to escape. The binder twine plant is reported, will employ about 100 men and will be more than self-sustaining.

The board asks for amendment to the law to make counties having no insane asylums pay an amount equal to the state's for the maintenance of their inmate population in state institutions. At the rate of $3.50 per week county and state would pay $1.75 each. Amendment to the law is asked to enable the board to charge the actual cost of maintenance for those who are able to provide the necessary treatment at state hospitals for the insane.

The report is exhaustive in details of the work of the board and of each institution under its control.

NINE PERSONS INJURED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Two taxi-cabs collided headed on Washington Park Boulevard late yesterday afternoon, severely injuring nine persons two of whom may die. The seriously injured are: Mrs. James M. Swift, 40, scalp wounds and internal injuries, may die; Mrs. David Clavans, body bruised, internally hurt, may die; According to the police both machines were running at a high rate of speed. They struck as one of them turned into the boulevard. Both taxi cabs were demolished.

RUSSIA AND AUSTRIA ARE TALKING OF NEW CONFLICT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

St. Petersburg, Jan. 29.—The present state of affairs between Russia and Austria is regarded as delicate in the extreme. The war party is now in the saddle in Austria and Russia, and has 1,600,000 men serving with the colors.

CLAIM GOVERNMENT HAS LOST MONEY BY PRESENT POLICIES

Forty Million Dollars Alleged Lost in Interest Alone Since 1905 Says Congressional Committee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Jan. 29.—A loss of forty million dollars the government might have received in interest on the idle funds in the treasury since 1905 and a much greater loss on funds deposited without interest in national banks, will be described in a report soon to be made to the house favoring the adoption of the Goeke bill for a compulsory deposit law.

Figures will show, according to members of the house committee on expenditures, in the treasury department that the government might earn from two million to three million dollars a year on its idle cash.

The proposed law would compel banks to bid for deposits, would limit the amount any bank might receive and compel all banks to pay interest on government deposits. The report of the committee is expected to show that under a two per cent interest law the government could have earned nearly one hundred and

Army Bill.
The Townsend bill to place on the retired list of the army all union officers of the Civil War at three quarters pay they were receiving at the time they were mustered out, will be considered tomorrow by the senate committee on military affairs. A substitute bill by Senator Sanders was voted down by the committee at its meeting and the members are evenly divided on the Townsend bill. Friends of the measure hope to have it ordered favorably by the committee.

Investigation of alleged activity of the postoffice department in connection with President Taft's campaign is forecasted as one of the first developments before the senate campaign expenditures committee as the result of the senate today extending the committee's authority to cover the campaign ending Nov. 5, 1912.

The resolution passed without opposition. It is understood Senator Clapp, chairman of the investigation committee, contemplates calling Postmaster General Hitchcock, Charles D. Hilles, republican national chairman, and others connected with the republican campaign, as the first witnesses.

By a vote the republicans of the senate today lost their effort to force another executive session to consider President Taft's appointments. Democratic leaders forced a roll call and with the aid of Senator Brewster and Senator La Follette republicans, prevented the senate from resuming the fight.

In a report on fur seal conditions at the Pribiloff Islands the house committee which conducted a wide investigation today endorsed a closed season of five years. President Taft recently asked to have a law to that effect repealed.

'HOW TO INSURE
YOUR POCKETBOOK

To do that you simply make sure of getting the highest quality for the most reasonable price. You yourself cannot be familiar with the values of all the necessities you buy, and so you must rely on what others tell you of the good points of the various articles.

Insure your pocketbook by taking the word of the man who has his all at stake—the manufacturer himself. If he tells you an untruth through his advertisement to use his goods, and his profits will fall off. In time his misleading statements to buyers will drive him out of business.

You can insure your pocketbook with the help of THE GAZETTE—get quality and price and convenience with small effort. Rely upon the advertisements of THE GAZETTE's advertisers. You can do this by putting yourself out of the power of unscrupulous manufacturers and be guided to the stores of reliable dealers. It pays in time, money, and trouble saved to read THE GAZETTE'S advertisements closely and constantly every day.

TO WIDEN SCOPE OF

Assemblyman Nye Introduces Measure Giving More Power to Railroad and Warehouse Commissions

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—The general scope of the railroad commission law in the settlement of discriminatory charges will be broadened if the bill introduced in the assembly this morning by Assemblyman Ray J. Nye of Superior is passed. His measure provides that any person, firm or corporation may submit to the railroad commission, either by mail or in person, any railroad company or express bill or receipt showing charges paid for the transportation of any property for the purpose of having it examined with respect to the correctness of weights, rates and charges indicated in the statement. It is made the duty of the railroad commission to make a complete investigation of all such complaints and in case the charges are incorrect a refund must be paid to the complainant.

Another measure extending the power of the grain and warehouse commission was also introduced by Assemblyman Nye today. It empowers upon request to send any deputy weighmaster or deputy inspector to places outside the city of Superior to weigh, inspect and grade grain and may also, upon request, direct the representative of the commission to weigh coal in car load lots on the docks within the territory under its jurisdiction. The commission is permitted under the bill to fix a fee for such services.

Nye is also pressing a bill to amend the commission form for cities' law so that the proceedings of the commission may be published in the same method as common council proceedings. He believes that a general publication of the council's work in this form is preferable to the pamphlet system of publication, demanded by the present law.

Senator Victor Linley presented a bill in the senate this morning giving to municipal courts the regular method of impaneling a jury as is now used by the circuit courts. In a number of the municipal courts of the state a jury for the municipal court is selected by the same method used in the justice courts. An officer is sent out to bring in men to sit on the jury. Senator Kiple maintains the custom which he proposes will be more satisfactory and expeditious.

The tax commission inheritance bill presented by Assemblyman Gulickson raises the taxes upon an inheritance where the heir is a father, mother, daughter, son, husband, wife or sister of the deceased from 1.5 to 2%.

A prison warden may furnish convicts to counties for highway labor according to a bill offered by Assemblyman Lene.

The appointment of a conservation commission of Wisconsin and the abolishment of the offices of state fish and game warden, state park board, and state board of forestry is the substance of a bill offered by Axel Johnson in the assembly.

Assemblyman Urquhart would have a hunter furnish an affidavit of the killing of deer himself, before he can secure tags for shipment. County school of agriculture are provided in a bill by Speaker Hull of the assembly.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Jan. 29.—The United States is $10,861 richer today, through the carelessness of people who neglected to place return addressed on mail. The annual "dead letter sale" netted that sum. An unmounted diamond of more than three karats in weight went for $550.

SUFFRAGISTS ACTIVE IN WASHINGTON THESE DAYS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Jan. 29.—Woman suffrage leaders braved raw winds and a whirling snow flurry today to hold a street meeting to call upon President Taft to grant a holiday on March 3d to government clerks who wish to participate in the suffrage parade. Chairman Black of the civil service commission has ruled that the marchers will not be held guilty of "pernicious political activity."

Thirty Suffragettes Under "General" Drummond Are Committed For Rioting at Parliament Building.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Jan. 29.—"General" Mrs. Drummond and thirty other suffragettes will spend the next fourteen days in jail as the result of their determination to force David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to receive them at a deputation in the house of Commons last evening. All the prisoners declared in court after they were sentenced today that they would immediately start a "hunger" strike.

The accused women were brought up at the Bow Street Police court, before Robert Marsham, police magistrate. Mrs. Drummond complained during the hearing that the police had handled her roughly when she was arrested. She declared that a patrolman threw her into the mud.

"It is now war to the knife," she told the magistrate and continued, "You and Mr. Lloyd George have a lot of trouble ahead of you. You will have to do the dirty work and you will have plenty of it."

The women all refused the option which was offered them of paying a fine instead of going to prison.

COMPENSATION ACT CASE
AGAINST THE SOO ROAD

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—Arguments were heard by Circuit Judge Stevens yesterday afternoon in the case of Mrs. Ella Torvalson of Vernon, Waukesha county, against the Soo Line under the workmen's compensation act. The husband of the woman was struck and killed by a Soo train and she was awarded $2,000 by order of the industrial commission. The Soo company claimed Torvalson, who was in its employ, was not under the compensation law because he was not a shop or office employee. The commission held he was protected by the law because his employer was under the act. This was an application to the circuit court to review the decision of the commission.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Burlington, Vt., Jan. 29.—Many notable representatives of the Episcopal church filed St. Paul's Church this morning at the consecration of Rev. William Farrar Weeks as bishop coadjutor of the diocese of Vermont. The complete ritualistic ceremony of the church was carried out in the consecration.

WANT TARIFF ON SHOES TO PROTECT MANUFACTURER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Fear that foreign producers would invade and injure the American market was expressed today in the testimony on the shoe and leather schedule of the tariff before the House Committee on Ways and Means. Representatives of the National Shoe Wholesalers' Association and other trade organizations spoke in opposition to any change in the tariff on shoes and leather.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS HOLD MEETING IN MADISON

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Jan. 29.—The county superintendents of Wisconsin in annual convention today, made severe criticism on the recent reports of the state board of public affairs on the rural schools of Wisconsin. The following officers were elected: President, G. W. Davies; vice president, Ellen McDonald; secretary and treasurer, Miss Bertha Trudell.

FILES AFFIDAVIT IN THE ECKERN MATTER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Jan. 29.—Assemblyman L. Johnson filed an affidavit with the Dane county circuit court today in the Eckern case in which he claims that he had no political committee and that Herman L. Eckern, the insurance commissioner, had nothing to do with the management or conduct of his campaign for the speakership.

CRAZY MAN DEMANDS
LARGE SUM OF MONEY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 29.—A threat to destroy the city unless $100,000 was placed in his hands immediately led to the arrest today of John Tailburg, a Danish laborer. Sitting in the office of Chief of Police Griffin, Tailburg calmly repeated the threat and said, "The Almighty has promised aid in the undertaking." Tailburg's threats came in a letter to the chief.

RAILROADS TO PAY

Northwestern's Tax in Wisconsin
Amounts to $1,348,897—Ad Valorem System of Taxation As Basis.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—The fifty railroads of Wisconsin will pay $3,860,486.40 this year. The valuation of these railroads as announced by the state tax commission last night is $326,263,000. The largest tax will be paid by the Northwestern railroad, which is $1,348,897.82. The Milwaukee road ranks next and is taxed $1,126,448. The smallest tax will be paid by the Chicago & Lake Superior Railway company of Cambridge, Dane county, reputed to be the shortest railroad line in the world. Its taxes will be $70.99. Under the ad valorem system of taxation the railroad companies now pay on the same basis as other property in the state.

"The general property of the state as finally determined by the commission for the purposes of such assessment is the sum of $2,841,630,416," says the commission in a statement. "The total amount of taxes, state, county and local, levied upon the general property of the state for the year 1912, (excluding special assessments and poll taxes) as determined by the commission, is the sum of $33,623,412.91, and the average rate of taxation as computed by the commission upon the totals is .01183243701, or $11.83 upon every $1,000 of valuation."

BAD FEEDING CAUSES CRIME.

The president of the Fat Man's club of Boston calls attention to the fact that fat men commit crime rarely, cases of men weighing over 200 pounds being practically unknown.
Most of the crime is committed by men under 150 pounds. This agrees with the noted observation of Henry Ward Beecher that a man with a bad liver can't be a good Christian. Moral and physical health are intimately related. The toxins produced by defective nutrition poison the mind, and bad mental conditions produce toxins that interfere with nutrition. Truant officers find that bad boys are badly fed. Physical and mental health are intimately related, and the basis of good health is good feeding.

Catholics in the Milwaukee Diocese Will Be Interested in Reading the Rules.

Archbishop Messmer of the Milwaukee diocese, to which the Janesville Catholic churches, St. Patrick's and St. Mary's, belong, has issued the following list of Lenten regulations:

1. All Fridays and fast-days during the year are days of abstinence from flesh-meat. On Saturdays, which are also days of abstinence, flesh-meat is allowed by Apostolic indult at all meals, unless they happen to be fast-days.

2. The following are fast-days of obligation: All days of Lent (except Sundays); the Ember-days; the Vig-ils or Eves of Pentecost, of the Assumption, of All Saints, and of Christmas; lastly, the Fridays of Advent.

On fast-days only one full meal a day is allowed to persons obliged to fast. But indulgent custom allow coffee, tea, chocolate, with a piece of bread in the morning, and the use of eggs, butter, milk, etc., in the evening. For sufficient reason the collation (lunch) may be taken at noon, and the dinner or principal meal in the evening.

During Lent, by Apostolic indult, flesh-meat is allowed only at the principal meal on weeks days, except all Wednesdays and Fridays, and the Saturdays in Ember-week (Feb.
15) and Holy Week (March 22). On fast-days in Lent, flesh-meat and fish (including oysters, clams, frogs, turtles, etc.) are never allowed at the same meal, a rule which applies even to the Sundays in Lent and to all persons however otherwise excused or dispensed from the law of either abstinence or fast. But meals may be prepared with the drippings of one of either fat or lard.

Should the feast of the Nativity
(Christmas) and the Circumcision (New Year's), the feast of the Assumption and the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and the feast of All Saints fall upon a day of abstinence or fast, a general dispensation from such abstinence or fast has been granted for such an occurrence by a special order of the Holy Father issued on July 2, 1911.
The same holds good for parishes where the feast of the Patron Saint (titular) of the church is observed with solemnity and a large concourse of people.

Persons excused from fast may use flesh-meat more than once on the days when it is allowed at all, whether in Lent or outside of that season.
Catholics, having attained the sufficient use of reason are bound by the law of abstinence. But when it is either physically or morally impossible to observe the law or when it would entail serious difficulties, they are excused from it.

In virtue of the Apostolic faculties granted us by the Holy See we hereby delegate pastors to dispense, in each single case, from abstinence the men actually engaged in threshing as well as the farmer families at

You Should Enjoy Your Meals

One of the Most Important Questions to Consider in the Search for Happiness and Health.

If your stomach can not digest your food, what will? Where's the relief?
The answer is in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because, as all stomach troubles arise from indigestion and because one ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is able to thoroughly and completely digest 3,000 grains of food, doesn't it stand to reason that these tablets are going to digest all the food and whatever food you put into your stomach?

You Can Eat With the Appetite of a Lusty Youngster, If You Help Your Stomach.

Science nowadays can digest food without having it enter the stomach at all. And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the result of this scientific discovery. They digest and digest thoroughly and well, anything and everything you eat.

The burning question to you is,
"Are you getting out of life all the pleasure and the health you are entitled to?" If not, why not?

No matter whether every organ and member of your body is in a sound state of health and strength, if your stomach is in any way disordered, you are not going to be "yourself." You are going to be a worried, out-of-sorts, nervous or sullen individual, whose actions will reflect your condition inside, and people will naturally avoid you.

So, if your stomach refuses to work or can't work, and you suffer from eructations, bloating, brash, fermentation, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn, irritation, indigestion, or dyspepsia of whatever form, just take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and see the difference. It doesn't cost you much to prove it. Then you can eat all you want, what you want, whenever you want, if you use these tablets, and you can look the whole world in the face with a beaming eye and you will have a cheerful spirit, a pleasant face, a vigorous body and a clear mind and memory and everything will look and taste delicious to you. That's life.

Get a 50 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store.

whose place threshing is going on.
Catholics, having completed their twenty-first year of age, are bound to fast. But the causes of excuse just mentioned in regard to abstinence, apply also to the law of fasting. Hence the church ordinarily exempts from fasting the sick and those in feeble health (whether by sickness or old age); women nursing children; all who are engaged in laborious and exhausting occupations.
Persons in doubt whether they are excused or not should consult their confessor or pastor for advice or dispensation.

In virtue of an Apostolic indult we permit workmen and their families the use of flesh-meat at the principal common meal on all fast-days and abstinence days throughout the year, with the exception of all Fridays, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday and Saturday of Holy Week and the Eve of Christmas.

5. Persons excused or dispensed from the law of fast or abstinence ought to perform some other good works of piety and charity in the spirit of Christian penance and sanctification. Hence the pious custom of giving Lenten Alms. "Redeem thou thy sins with alms, and thy iniquities with works of mercy." Dan. v.
21. Also the custom of abstaining from intoxicating drinks, of staying away from theatres, dances, card parties and other profane amusements, etc.

Rev. J. J. McGinnity, Formerly of Janesville, Establishes Flourishing Church in Nearby Town.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton Junction, Jan. 29.—The Catholic congregation of St. Mary's at Milton Junction has many reasons to feel proud of what it has accomplished during the past year and one-half. For many years and up to April 12, 1911, the congregation was an mission attended from Fort Atkinson. Since April 1911 the congregation has been cared for by Rev. J.
McGinnity, formerly assistant at St. Patrick's church, Janesville. To say that the congregation has flourished and made remarkable financial progress since Father McGin-nity took charge of it is putting it mildly. Since his appointment pastor Father McGinnity has paid off a debt on the parsonage of over $2000, which considering the size of the parish is doing exceptionally well. The annual statement shows that the congregation is entirely free from debt. The parish owns a nice cozy church, small but well furnished and amply large enough to accommodate the congregation. They also have a beautiful pastor's residence, costing $5000. It is modern in every regard, being furnished with electric and gas lights and water works.

Miss Enright Describes Her Trip to the Orient

Gives Interesting Address to High School Students Yesterday Afternoon.

The high school was adjourned yesterday afternoon for a short time to enjoy a talk by Miss Kittie Enright on her trip to the Orient. She will be remembered as being a former high school student here, and a former school teacher here, now holding a position at one of the leading Chicago schools. Her talk covered the trip from here to San Francisco and from there to Honolulu and then to Manila. The city of Honolulu is a cosmopolitan place and is a quaint and attractive city. Miss Enright remained at Manila for about six months. She describes the various places of interest in the Philippine metropolis. From Manila she went to Hongkong, and then to the leading cities of Japan.

One place of interest to her was the tea house of Japan. Here the wealthy people of Japan are seen, and the entire place is clean and in order.
Before entering a tea house or any of the department stores, the people are requested to wear a covering for their heads so that they cannot track up the floor. Miss Enright talked for forty minutes and held the students
in close attention.

Janesville-Beloit Contests Will Not be Held Before Feb. 7, According To Latest Word.

The Janesville-Beloit debate which was to have been staged this week at the high school will not take place before February 7th, or the 14th. It is however thought that it will take place on the 7th, because of the basketball game with the Beloit high school on that date. Two years ago the locals lost both at basketball and at debate, on the same day, but Janesville plans to reverse the order this year. The basketball game with Beloit will decide which team will be represented at the tournament next spring, and the debate will be the first of the Beloit College League debates among high schools. The Kanosha-Racing contests will be held on the same night and all the teams will argue on the same question, whether naval expenditures should be diminished in the interest of world peace.

MEMBERS OF COUNCIL ON TRIP TO MADISON

Accompanied Fire Chief Klein There
This Morning to See Demonstration of Motor Hose and Chemical.

Mayor James A. Fathens and Councilman Roy M. Cummings together with Chief of the Fire Department H. C. Klein left early this morning for Madison, where they witnessed a demonstration of the new motor hose and chemical recently added to the fire department of that city. As this piece of apparatus was nearly a new one, the specifications for which the city asked bids, the Council and Chief were anxious to see it in action. Since there was considerable snow on the ground at Madison, before the snow-fall of last night, and there are hills in the city that compare as to steepness with the worst in Janesville, the demonstration was expected to put the machine through its paces for the benefit of the visitors.

Address and Music Following Annual Banquet Proves Very Pleasing—Dance Follows Program.

Entertainment of a very fine order was provided the Knights of Columbus at their thirteenth annual banquet held at Assembly Hall last evening. Three hundred and fifty or more were seated at the banquet tables where they were served a six course dinner. George A. Bennett was master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers in their turn with appropriate remarks. The first number on the program was a vocal solo by George L. Hatch and this was followed by a deserved encore, Miss Marie Nelson amused her audience with a pleasing rendition of the reading
"The Passing of the Horse." The Rev. Father H. C. Hennell, chaplain of St. Paul's university chapel at Madison, spoke briefly on the subject of "Catholic Education," setting forth its peculiar points of strength and aspirations. The Hon. Daniel Grady of Portage gave a brief address in his usual eloquent manner and was followed by City Attorney W. H. Dougherty who brought many an amusing and mirth-provoking anecdote under the title of "Much Ado About Nothing." "America" was sung by all present, closing the program which followed by dancing.
The Italian orchestra furnished music for the dancers.

MISS ENRIGHT DESCRIBES HER TRIP TO THE ORIENT

Gives Interesting Address to High School Students Yesterday
Afternoon.

The high school was adjourned yesterday afternoon for a short time to enjoy a talk by Miss Kittie Enright
on her trip to the Orient. She will be remembered as being a former high school student here, and a former school teacher here, now holding a position at one of the leading Chicago schools. Her talk covered
the trip from here to San Francisco
and from there to Honolulu and then to Manila. The city of Honolulu is
a cosmopolitan place and is a quaint
and attractive city. Miss Enright remained at Manila for about six months. She describes the various places of interest in the Philippine metropolis. From Manila she went to Hongkong, and then to the leading
cities of Japan.

One place of interest to her was the tea house of Japan. Here the wealthy
people of Japan are seen, and the
entire place is clean and in order.
Before entering a tea house or any of
requested to wear a covering for their heads so that they cannot track up
the floor. Miss Enright talked for
in close attention.

Local Basketball Aggregation Has Hard Game Scheduled for Friday.

To meet and defeat the Comus club basketball team at Beloit on Friday night, is the proposition which will be attempted by the Janesville Maroons. The Comus team has a clean record on its own floor where the Lakota Cardinals met their first defeat of the season, in the return game the Beloit team did not fare so well. The Maroon team will be composed as follows: Cannon, center; Mott and Cunningham, guards; Wilson and French, forwards.

People With Good Digestion Do Not Have Rheumatism.

The blood is the product of digestion. Whatever sort of food is digested in the stomach is absorbed into the blood. If the food is badly digested, this is also absorbed into the blood. If the food sours in the stomach before digestion or during digestion, the acids are absorbed into the blood.

These acids in the blood produce a condition known as rheumatism.
The acids are liable to produce microscopic crystals. These crystals are deposited in the ligaments and cartilages, causing rheumatism of the joints. Sometimes it is the bones, producing periodic pains every time a storm approaches. Sometimes it is the muscles, producing lumbago, stiff neck, myalgia, and muscular rheumatism generally.

Peruna Corrects Digestion.
The reason that Peruna relieves such cases is easy to understand.
Peruna corrects digestion. Peruna corrects digestion partly by hurrying it. Peruna does not furnish any artificial digestant, it simply assists Nature in doing its own digesting.

In this way the products of digestion are more normal. The blood is not filled with imperfectly digested food. No acids accumulate in the stomach while Peruna is being taken. Thus rheumatism is prevented.

It is a great deal better to prevent a disorder than to try to cure it. But even after rheumatism has begun the condition that caused it ought to be removed if possible.

Good Digestion Stops Rheumatism.
The first thing to do is to secure good digestion, then if it is necessary specific medicines for rheumatism may be taken. But until the digestion is made perfect it is of little or no use to take medicines for rheumatism. To produce good digestion Peruna should be taken.

Series of Meetings Announced for Next Sunday and Monday in Interest of Work.

The ministers, the Sunday school superintendents and the teachers of the city are planning for a series of meetings to be held next Sunday and Monday in the interest of better Sunday school work.

A company of Sunday school experts are touring the state in the interest of improved methods and will visit Janesville February 2 and 3.
The company consists of Dr. McElfresh, Chicago, superintendent of the training department of the International association, a man of unusual ability in his department;
Rev. F. H. Brigham, general secretary of the Wisconsin Sunday School association, and Miss Mabel Bailey, state elementary superintendent for Wisconsin.

The program of meetings provide for the first one in the Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.
Then in the Methodist church in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Monday meetings will be in the Presbyterian church as follows:

Pastors' conference, 10:30 a. m., general meeting, 2:30 p. m., and a mass meeting and lecture in the evening at 7:30.

All these meetings are free and open to the public and everybody is cordially invited.

A Wall Street man was treasurer of the New York Giants when Amos Rusie was the best paid man in the team. The treasurer went out to the Polo grounds one day, and noticing that Rusie wasn't in the lineup called the manager over and wanted to know the reason why.

"He pitched yesterday," said the manager.

"Supposing he did," said the treasurer. "He's one of your best men, isn't he?"

"Yes."

"Put him in the right field, then," ordered the Wall Street magnate. "He's getting too much money to be loafing."

Harry Gilmore, Jr., the Chicago boy, whose father, Harry Gilmore, the retired lightweight, was one of the best little men of his day, is now running a sporting journal in Los Angeles, Cal., called the Referee. In the recent issue Gilmore pays a tribute to Lumber McCarty.

"Another Jim Corbett, only greater, is the prediction made by the wise ones. Their reference is made to the new heavyweight champion, Lumber McCarty. This is none too great a prediction, and I am sure to believe it is a most probable fact. Today McCarty is but a boy, yet he is of more sturdy build and probably possesses more strength than did Corbett at his best."

EVANSVILLE GAME IS NEXT ON LIST

High School Team Play First Game of Schedule Away From Home—On Friday Night.

With the defeat of Stoughton by the local high school five, it is evident that the Evansville team is out of the running for the state title. Janesville's next problem is to humble Evansville's chances in the annual battle at that place on Friday night. The locals are fit for the fray, and with Dalton back in the lineup, they should win easily. The only drawback is the size of the Evansville gymnasium, which is a small affair, and the locals must be on the ball all the time in order to defeat their opponents.

One improvement on the local team is that Edler will play at his guard with Dalton as forward. This change will add to the playing strength and although Ryan played well at Edler's guard, it is generally conceded that Edler has more experience. Ryan is a good man, and will undoubtedly be given more chance to prove his worth. Hemming is improving at every practice. His alertness at basket shooting will help defeat many teams before the locals end their rise for state laurels.

Their easy victory over Stoughton was a real good practice game, and since Stoughton defeated Jefferson by a good score, Janesville has nothing to fear from this section. Racine is showing up well but the locals are only waiting to meet them.

Beloit will be seen on the local floor one week from Friday night, February 7th. The game then will probably be played in the afternoon at the close of school, so as to allow the debate to take place at night. It is thought that Beloit will be well represented here, both with a crowd of students and also with a brass band.

TO INTRODUCE BILL TO LEGALIZE BOXING

Measure Planned After New York State Will be Presented Either Thursday or Friday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—A bill to legalize boxing in this state, drawn along the lines of the New York law, will be introduced in the assembly on either Thursday or Friday. It is understood that the measure is being prepared in Milwaukee, but that it will be introduced in the assembly by Assemblyman A. J. Hedding. Little information on the provisions of the bill could be obtained today. It is understood that it provides for a boxing commission of three members to be appointed by the governor. This commission may issue licenses for bouts. Not more than ten rounds will be permitted under the provisions of the bill. There seems to be a strong sentiment among the Milwaukee delegation in the legislature in favor of such an act.

Janesville Polo Team Will Have Hard Game With Leaders of the League.

The Janesville roller polo team will clash with the Racine polo team Friday night at the local rink. The Janesville team has practiced faithfully at all available time and have several new players in the lineup which will greatly strengthen the team and as they are expert players and skaters they will add significant strength. The Racine team leads the league and is playing the best game of any team, having met and defeated all the teams except Janesville. The Janesville players are confident of holding their own with their opponents and expect to stop Racine's winning streak. The Kenosha team, who defeated the locals last week, have played the Racine team and were defeated. While this fact confronts the Janesville men they are confident that with their new players and additional practice they will secure a place among the leaders of the league.

SPENDS BEST DAYS WARMING BENCH

Davy Jones.

Although one of the best outfielders in the American league, Davy Jones, whom the Detroit Tigers recently sold to the Chicago White Sox, has spent the best years of his career on the bench. He went to Detroit in 1905. During his seven years with the Tigers Jennings had those peerless gardeners, Cobb, Crawford and McIntyre, always with him. So Jones had to eat his heart out on the bench. Now that he is getting old he is to be given a chance to play regularly and not as a utility man.

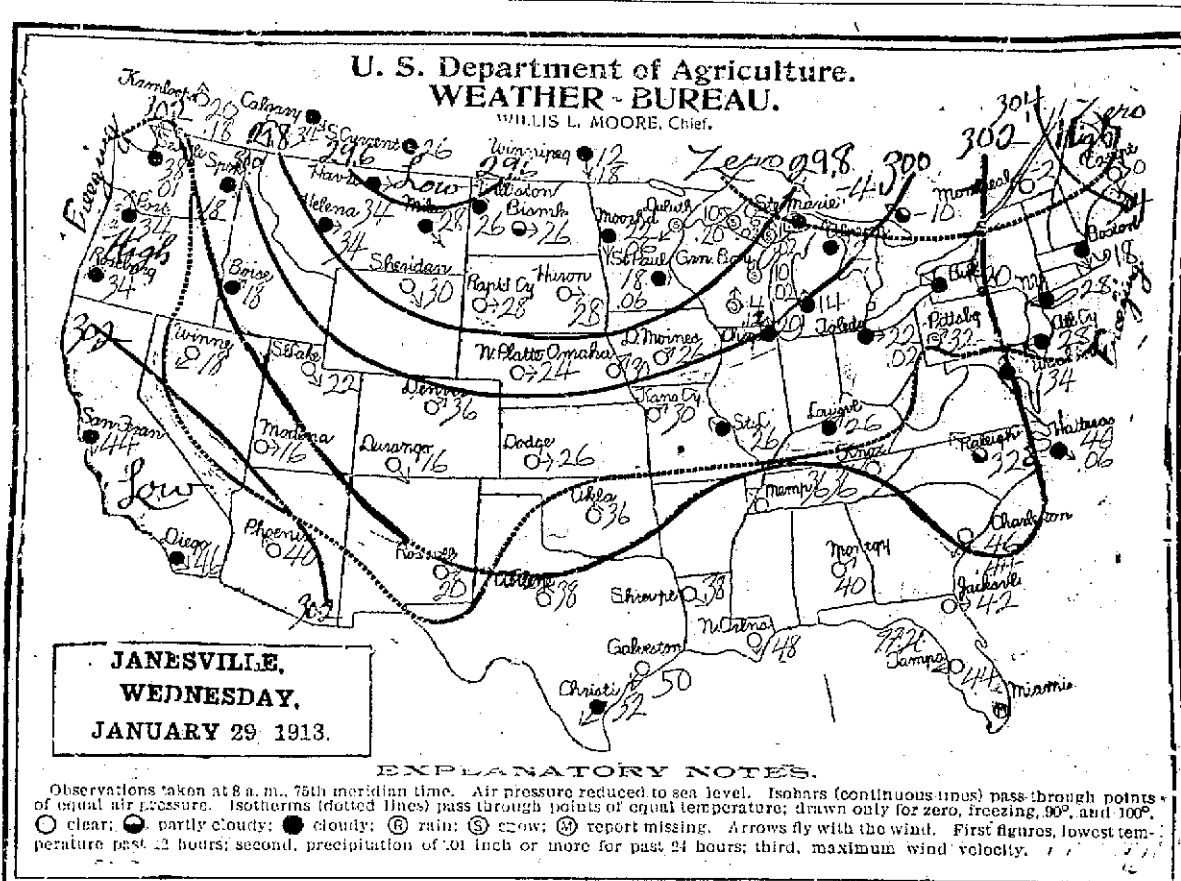

WITH THE BOXERS.

Mike Schreck, the old-time heavyweight, has quit the boxing game and taken up wrestling.

Johnny Summers, the welterweight champion of England, is on his way to Australia to engage in five battles. Another bout between Matt Wells and Hughie McEgan, the Australian lightweight, will be staged in London Feb. 24.

Ex-amateur heavyweight champion Phil Schlossberg will be out of the Navy in eight months and will then take up boxing as a profession.

Fights Scheduled for Tonight.

Pat Brown vs. Patsy Drouillard, 8 rounds, at Windsor, Ont.

ADVERTISING MEDIUMS.

The two great advertising mediums of the country are the newspapers and magazines. The former carry much the largest volume of business, because of their intense circulation, but a certain class of manufacturers, who do a nation-wide business, are liberal patrons of the magazines, because they have been taught to believe that they are the most desirable medium. The agents who handle the business, are responsible for teaching this kind of doctrine. They are partial to the magazines because there is good money in handling them, and because it is less trouble to place an order with twenty publications of this class, than with several hundred newspapers, covering the same territory. To say that results are not always satisfactory, is simply to state a fact which many manufacturers have discovered to their sorrow.

The newspaper is by far and away the best medium for any kind of publicity. The manufacturer advertises for the benefit of his local representative, and the paper published in the local field is the one medium on which the local dealer depends to reach his trade.

The newspapers have suffered the loss of much of this kind of business through lack of organization, and an effort is now being made through Jason Rogers, publisher of the New York Globe, to remedy this defect, by bringing to the door of the manufacturers, detailed information concerning the merits of two hundred papers, scattered over the country from Maine to California.

The Association of American Advertisers, representing some eighty agencies, is in session today at Syracuse, New York. Mr. Rogers is present to address them on the newspaper proposition, and if possible interest them in the newspaper as the best advertising medium. After going over the ground thoroughly, he said, in closing:

"There is one statement I wish to make which I think once for all answers the arguments of our friends selling advertising space in magazines.

"Taking eighteen of the larger cities of the United States from which I could secure any data from the bunch of circulation figures furnished by the magazines we find this result: The combined circulation of Cosmopolitan, McClure's, and Everybody's aggregated 1,913,949 per issue at that time of which 671,862 were sold in the eighteen cities under consideration.

"Therefore, the advertiser desiring to create a demand in these cities where it is presumed he had a distribution would be paying for 1,242,073 circulation that is of extremely doubtful value to him.

"His space would cost him $6.38 per line for only about $2 efficiency.

"By using newspapers which more completely cover the same territory, and which have a far greater influence for sales in the minds of the men handling your goods (the local merchants), you can get 2,779,615 circulation for approximately $4 per line. Magazine space costs three times as much per line per thousand as newspaper space, without consideration of the enormous element of waste, which probably brings the comparative cost to eight or ten to one.

"The towns used for calculations are: Atlanta, Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Cincinnati, Denver, Kansas City, Los Angeles, New Orleans, New York, Omaha, Portland (Ore.), Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, St. Louis, St. Paul, and Washington.

"Magazines only reach the people once a month, or twice a year, as against the possibility of appealing to them every day for a quick, effective campaign through the newspapers.

"Magazine campaigns lose heavily in efficiency through the necessity of preparing copy weeks in advance and the long waits between blows.

"Newspaper space can be bought in exact accordance with selling effort for a full 100 per cent efficiency, timed to the hour, and taking advantage of changing conditions.

"Jones, who sells your goods in Buffalo, N. Y., is more interested in your advertising in the Buffalo News, in order to directly reach people who trade at his store, than if you used pages in all the magazines in a general way.

"Likewise, it is true of Brother Jones in Salem, Mass., where the Salem News dominates, and so on in city after city throughout the land.

"Business success nowadays consists in backing up Jones, who sells the goods. The more goods Jones sells the more money you, the manufacturer, will make.

"Back up Jones by local newspaper advertising wherever you can find him and cut out the purchase of fine conversation and of beautiful imagination.

"If you go at Jones right he will probably spend some of his own money matched up with yours for advertising your goods in the paper that he knows will bring customers who will buy goods.

"Hit up Jones in the right way, in co-operation with his home town paper, and you will agree with me that newspaper advertising cuts out every item of waste and produces selling efficiency which, when linked with distribution, is nearly 100 per cent fine.

This is the whole situation in a nutshell, and every manufacturer can afford to give the subject more than passing attention.

TARIFF TRIFLES.

A "Melodrammer" in Yearly Spasms.

Scene: A Committee Room at the Capitol—Time: The present. (The curtain never falls.)

The committee is giving an imitation of hearing arguments on the tariff.

Senator Snudge (friend of the People) yawning: "We will now consider the duty on wool. Are there any objections to the proposed schedule?"

Woolton Lamb (from Boston): "I object seriously, Mr. Chairman. As the representative of the Wool Growers' Association, I wish to declare that free wool would scratch the profits completely off our backs. It would cause use to become bankrupt. Free cotton goods may be all right, but free wool—never!"

Col. Linthors (of Texas; jumping to his feet): "It's an outrage, suh, to suggest such a thing. Do what you will to the monster steel, suh, but I pray you touch not one gray hair of the precious cotton boll."

Rolling Mills (of Pittsburgh, rising briskly): "Mr. Chairman, if you take the tariff off steel, you will ruin the greatest industry in the country; an industry which employs thousands of men and supports millions of tender babes. Let us have free shoes, perhaps, but under no circumstances remove the protection from steel."

I. Skinnuz (of Massachusetts): "I rise, sir, in the interests of the American Hide Stretchers' Society, to protest shudderingly against the remarks of the gentleman from Pittsburgh. They are both unpatriotic and uncharitable. If shoes are unprotected you will see the home factories close down, one by one, and the output of footwear fall off to such an extent that only foreign shoes will be seen in this country. Only the wealthy will be able to afford them; the poor will have to go barefoot, their bunsions exposed to every icy blast of this harsh climate. We have no objections to your removing the tax on sugar, but we earnestly request you to spare our feet."

Alwyn Beets (scrambling to the rescue): "In the West, Mr. Chairman, we live off the sugar beet which the leathery gentleman wishes you to legislate out of existence. Free sugar would mean the death of every factory slicing sugar beets from Michigan to California. In my great country, sir, we tell our little ones to slumber by telling them of the progress of the succulent beets. Without this soporific our children would be unable to sleep. Think well, gentlemen of the committee, before you cause the great western world to become a nation of sleepless paupers. Now the tariff on sulphuric acid—"

This little drama, from the Wall Street Journal, may be slightly overdrawn, but it is very true to life. The tariff must be reduced on every line except the one in which we are interested, and that makes it a local issue, pure and simple. The tariff will continue to be a perplexing question. The great army of consumers have come to believe that it has much to do with the high cost of living, and so are clamoring for reduction. The smaller army, whose capital is invested in producing, realizes the importance of protection, not only to capital, but to labor employed. There are two sides to the question and it can only be settled satisfactorily by mutual concessions.

Cummings and Fathers have been the subjects of recall petitions. Next on the list is Millmore—last, but not least. All have the unique distinction of being recalled because they dared to do their duty and offended the sensitive sensibilities of self-created censors of public morals.

Thus far the usual number of fool bills have made their appearance in the state legislature to be sited out in the various committee rooms. Present indications are the task will be a long one and that some of the farmer members will miss the spring plowing season entirely.

An exchange suggests that the newly discovered "cold light" is certainly no more effective than the cold light which gleams in one's wife's eyes when one comes home at 3 o'clock in the morning after a spell of exhausting work at the office.

It is possible that Wilson will ride to the inauguration on a bicycle and thus even place Jefferson in the shade for his wheel costs less than did Jefferson's horse, and has the advantage, for it will stand without flinching.

Surely a nation that boasts of Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria, to say nothing of "Bloody" Mary and Boadicea, is a trifle rough on the suffragists who sought recognition in the House of Commons.

Persons who have complained of lack of snow this winter evidently do not have sidewalks to clean or do not own autos which do not thrive on deep snow drifts.

Wilson's cabinet appointments have all been made on paper, but thus far the public does not know whether Bryan will be secretary of state or not.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

Mary and the Cooking School. Since Sister Mary started in to go to cooking school. It seems that she has got possessed of one insane idea. They teach her how to cook a thing and she makes it a rule. To hike right home and mix it up and try it out on me.

She says as how she ain't quite sure that she kin do it right. But she is going to dope it out and try it just for fun. And if she gets the wrong things in she's not disturbed a mite. She says it's only me that's sick and there is no harm done.

I've swallered her whole bill of fare, she's made me choke it down. The things have got the blandest taste that I most ever see.

I'll bet my hat there ain't no kind in this whole gub dinged town that's lived on so much high toned grub the last six weeks as me.

She makes them there Cheese Raminiks that taste like lukewarm glue. And Venus Nectar, Russian Tea and steak a la Creole. Minced Partridge and Ham soufflé. And Rockefeller and Turkey, too. She cooks them Angels on Horseback and makes me eat 'em whole.

If any one had chanced to say, about six weeks ago, That I would ever get filled up I'd thought he'd lost his mind. But now I'm on the brink of gout and got dyspepsia so I'll have to take some treatment of the Rockefeller kind.

I feel like takin' to the woods and never comin' back. I'm melancholy all the time and as stubborn as a mule. My only joy, my appetite, has petered out, alack. Since sister Mary started in to go to cookin' school.

But Mary made one bad mistake. She baked a pie of mind. She made her faller eat a piece and he ain't been here since.

From the Hickeyville Clarion. Three second-hand seltzer siphons from the Golden Nudge saloon and buffet have been added to the equipment of the Wide Awake Fire department, which is now prepared for big conflagrations. The book and ladder has been rented to James Purdy, the house painter. In case of a fire the village president will mail James a postal card notifying him, and James will at once drive to town with the book and ladder.

Jed Frink and Hod Peters got all mixed up the other day. Jed started to give Hod the Woodmen handshake and he gave him the Pythias by mistake and Hod got excited and answered him with the Odd Fellows. Jed was so taken by surprise that he began feelin' around and gave Hod the Macabbes and Good Templar, and Hod, who was completely at sea, came back strong with the Elks and Royal Arcanum. They were shaking hands so long the constable interfered, thinkin' it was a rattling match.

T. Egbert Peavey, who is the George M. Cohan of these parts, has got some new spats of which he is very proud. Hank Tumms says him and his wife have had spats for fifteen years, but never found it necessary to brag about them. Anson Frisby says he is going to have a new colonial house with pillars on the front. By jing, if they are teacher pillars it ought to be a nice restful place to live.

Hank Tumms expects to get out a writ of certiorari agin Hod Peters if he can find any pettifogger in this town or West Hickeyville who knows what it means or how to spell it.

Uncle Ezra Harkins, aged one hundred and seven years, has returned from West Hickeyville, where he has been visiting his grandfather Old Cal Harkins. Mr. Wilson's Cabinet. Energetic but misguided writers on political subjects are helping Mr. Wilson manufacture his new cabinet. A Comparison:

A few years ago in winter time we spent the days hibernating in the quiet farmhouse, with dreary vistas of snow stretching to the horizon's veil, every way the vision traveled. Uneventful, yet full of small sweet joys were those days in that other world—that far distant life, because it was another world, another life. The other day we were on a train, glancing from the windows we saw the sun shining across the frosty shimmer of wintry snow. We saw the little quiet farmhouse with the blue shaft of smoke coming from the chimney. We saw the millions of beautiful colored ice-crystals on the window shedding forth resplendent pictures that would put to envy the most precious diamond, and we knew it was excessively cold. Strange it seemed that the brilliant sunshine can thus be pouring its beautiful rays into a scene of such frigid, frozen landscape, and that the same sun will in next August cast his rays, no more plentiful, perhaps, into the same landscape, which will then be sweltering, torrid stretches, abounding in almost tropical vegetation. And here we are today at our desk in the heart of the city, listening (when we listen) to the clang of street car bells, the rumble of the wagons on paved streets, the shriek of locomotive whistles, and within the store that constant, restless rumble which is made by a hundred noises broken into bits and thrown into the ceaseless flood that rumbles and roars through the active hours throughout the days and weeks of this store's life. There are the noises of the cash carriers, the noise of the elevator coming or going, the calls of the salespeople, the tramp of many hundreds of feet where crowding shoppers are active. Then there is the crowd of storeworkers. Their work must have constant attention and cooperation. Ah! What a busy world this is when compared with the quiet, even existence on the farms those dreary winter days.

COMPLAINT IS SIMILAR

Expected That Petition Against Councilman Millmore Will be Filed Late Today or Tomorrow.

Enemies of the present city administration took the second step toward removing it from office late yesterday afternoon when they filed a petition signed by 927 electors of Janesville demanding the recall of Mayor Fathers and the calling of a special election for the election of his successor. The petitions were presented by Messrs. Frank Fisher, Charles Sykes, and John Kennedy and the charges against Mayor Fathers are the same as those made against Councilman Cummings against whom petitions were filed last Saturday evening. The number of signatures is nine more than those on the Cummings petition, but thirteen new names are to be found, indicating that out of the number there were four who signed the Cummings petition, but not the one against Fathers. The new signatures were all made on Saturday and yesterday.

Petitions for the recall of Councilman Millmore will probably be filed this evening or within the next two or three days. As the petitions are identical except for a few signatures, the time needed to verify them will not be much greater than it but one petition had been filed. At the end of the ten days which the law gives the city clerk for this purpose he will certify to the council as to the sufficiency or insufficiency of the petitions, and his certification will undoubtedly contain an opinion of the city attorney as to their legal status. The promoters of the recall movement are confident that no flaws will be found sufficient to justify the rejection of the petitions and are perfecting their organization and laying wires for the campaign that is to follow. Steps are also being taken to crystallize and organize support for the present city council.

CONVENTION IS HELD BY REBEKAH LODGES

H. C. Hemingway President of Rock County Organization—Want Flat Rate of $5 a Ton Net.

Eighty farmers interested in raising sugar beets, held a meeting at the city hall assembly room on Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of completing a contract which was started last week and to adopt a contract which they believe to be reasonable.

The officers of the organization known as the Beet Growers' Association of Rock County and Neighboring Counties, were elected as follows: H. C. Hemingway, town of Janesville, president; C. E. Richards of Milton Junction, secretary; and Alfred Wobig, Janesville, treasurer. George Sayer of Milton, and Frank Hutchins of Milton Junction were named as members of the executive committee.

The board of directors named at the last meeting of the growers reported a contract which they recommended to the sugar company and asked its adoption. The members present ratified the contract which among other provisions that the growers shall be paid a flat rate of $5 per ton for beets.

The provisions of the contract as accepted were as follows:

"First: A flat rate of six dollars per ton."

"Second: The weighing and taring of all beets at the growers' shipping station."

"Third: The acceptance of the crop at the shipping stations as fast as the growers can deliver it."

"Fourth: Payment on the fifteenth of each month for all beets delivered the month previous."

"Fifth: An early opening of the shipping season."

"Sixth: If grower prefers hand labor, beet companies shall furnish same at a cost not to exceed twenty-one dollars per acre."

In addition to the contract terms as given above the directors reported a list of complaints explaining their reasons for each provision of the contract. They are as follows:

"On Specification 1. The taking of a few beets from a load now and then will not furnish a sure measure of the sugar contents of the crop, and therefore we believe that the present method of testing is not a satisfactory one. Then the sending of samples to the factory to be tested in the company's laboratory and reported on after the beets for which the same sample was taken have passed out of the growers' hands, is not good business practice and should not be accepted in the contracts by any self-respecting grower. Therefore we hold that until some better method of testing has been established a flat rate is much to be preferred."

"On specification 2. Taring beets at the factory is also poor business practice and should not be accepted in a contract."

"On Specification 3. The beet crop is a contract crop. It is not grown for the general market, but for a party to the contract, the title to the crop lies with the sugar companies. The matured crop is their property. They should take all the risk of it after harvesting."

"On Specification 4. We feel it no more than fair the grower should receive pay on the fifteenth of each month for beets delivered or loaded the month previous, instead of beets received and unloaded by the beet companies, which means days and even weeks delay."

"On Specification 5. Growers should companies where the companies furnish early opening of the shipping season, by sowing a part of their crop early and holding themselves ready to start delivering as soon as the crop is ripe."

"On Specification 6. The grower should also co-operate with the beet companies where the companies furnish the labor, to the control of the labor. We realize the labor is becoming more independent, and we need it will be necessary to work hand in hand with the beet companies, but if the labor is uncontrollable to get reasonable results, then on complaint of the grower, the beet companies should give immediate attention, and in failure to do so should be responsible for the damage to the crop."

A general discussion of the contract followed its presentation, and copies of the same will be sent to every beet grower in this section. The directors of the association will confer with the sugar company and a meeting of the association will be called at some later date. Among those who addressed the meeting yesterday was A. E. Evenson of Whitewater, who was named on the board from his station. Similar organizations have been formed in Racine, Kenosha and in the northern sections of the state.

MOTOR DELIVERY WAGON IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire Department Called Out at Seven O'clock This Morning to Park Hotel Garage.

The Flanders delivery automobile of the Roessing Grocery Company caught fire this morning in the Park Hotel garage on South Main street and the fire department was telephoned for at about five minutes past seven. When the department arrived the entire front end was ablaze but the fire was extinguished with chemicals before the flames spread to the body of the vehicle. All the wiring around the engine was burned away and the dashboard badly damaged. In cold weather it is customary to prime the engine with gasoline through the pet-cocks and it is believed that gasoline spilled over the engine and was ignited by a short-circuit in the wiring.

Governor McGovern Signed Necessary Documents Early Last Evening—Chief Appleby Goes to Albany.

Extradition papers for John H. Weston, wanted in this city to answer a charge of embezzling from the Rock River Woolen Mills, were signed by Governor McGovern early last evening and Chief of Police George Appleby left at 4:50 o'clock this morning for Albany, New York, to present the papers to Governor Sulzer for his approval and signature. He is expected to arrive in Albany early tomorrow morning, but may not leave there for Buffalo until tomorrow night or early the next morning. It will probably be Sunday night before Weston is brought back to this city.

District Attorney Stanley Dunwiddie had the extradition papers and necessary accompanying documents drawn up yesterday afternoon, and Patrolman Sam Brown was sent to Madison with them on the Northwestern train leaving at 4:15 o'clock. Governor McGovern was sent a telephone message informing him that an officer was on the way with the papers and requesting that he remain at the office until his arrival. Officer Brown reached Madison soon after six o'clock and was able to get the papers signed and sealed in time to return to Janesville at 9:30 o'clock last evening.

Declares That Workers Would Never Submit to Compulsory Settlement Such As Is Proposed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Jan. 29.—"Compulsory arbitration was denounced today by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor in a speech before the annual meeting of the national Civic Federation. Mr. Gompers declared the workers would never submit to arbitration such as that proposed by bills now before the New York state legislature."

"I agree with you as to the desirability of preventing a strike he said, 'but don't imagine you are going to escape them by attempting to make perfectly natural activities unlawful. The attempt to get away from strike by the methods proposed is simply the attempt to compress steam of power in a too limited space. You may do that for a while but you will have an explosion from which no power on earth is potent to protect."

"You may make the stoppage of work illegal, but you won't stop the assertion of the right of workers to stop working. You want to get away from the turmoil resultant from industrial creditors and I want to join you in that. But for heaven's sake don't burden our laws or our system."

UNCLE WALT

The Post Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams

BY WALT MASON

Young Abner Wax is built to plow, and hoe the beet and carrot, but he is full of longing now to be a Lawrence Barrett. In dreams he proudly treads the stage, the people's MISGUIDED praise, deserving, and AMBITIONS. In his noble rage, E. Booth and Henry Irving. His poor old dad has pawned his mules to help Abner learn dramatics, and he's attending "melo" schools in dark and dusty attics. And he can strike an awful pose, this poor misguided geezer, and say "Poor Yorick!" through his nose, and murder "Julius Caesar." The local critics all agree that he's amusing, very, but he is sure that he will be another Ellen Terry. His foolish parents think he's fine, whose head is swelled with dropsy, and hope some day to see him shine as Uncle Tom or Topsy. An no one care to interfere, and tell this foolish fellow that farming is his proper sphere, and not the sere and melo. Ten thousand Ahs in countless towns their proper work are spurning; they reach for brushes, lyes or gowns, and should be busy churning. And silly parents urge them on and innocent bystanders can only cry: "So help me John! The world is full of ganders!"

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

An active year awaits you with great advantages in experience, but with little pecuniary success. If you are employed it will take much cleverness and attention, on your part, to satisfy your employer and yourself. Those born today will have original ideas and should be encouraged to work these out, for their signs confer inventive genius. Some important discovery may be the result of their work. Their danger will be from too great specialization, and plenty of active recreation, with cheerful companions, is therefore necessary.

MRS. JOB HACKWELL BURIED SATURDAY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Fairfield, Jan. 28.—Mrs. J. Hackwell passed away at her home south of this village Thursday afternoon Jan. 23, after a lingering illness. Sarah Buckland, the youngest daughter of Henry and Susan Buckland, was born April 11, 1833 in North Perret, in the county of Summerset, England. She came to the United States when twenty-five years of age and made her home in Eagle, Wis. On Oct. 24, 1858, at Troy, Wis., she was united in marriage to Job Hackwell. They made their home at Troy and Heart Prairie for three years, and then moved to Richmond, where they resided thirteen years. In 1874 they moved to Bradford and for thirty-nine years have labored together in the home from which she was called by the death angel. On Jan. 23, 1913, Mrs. Hackwell united with the M. E. church at Richmond, at the time the church was organized there. Later she joined the church at Fairfield and has been a consistent member.

For thirty-four years she has been in very poor health, but bore her trials with true Christian fortitude. Six weeks ago she was stricken with her last sickness.

She leaves to mourn her loss an aged husband and five children: Mary, George and Frances of the home; Mrs. Charles Holstein of Dancore, Kan.; and Charles Hackwell of Avon.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. S. Lutz, assisted by Rev. Simpson, Saturday afternoon at the church. Interment was made at Darlen. The music was rendered by Rev. Lutz and Mesdames Baldwin and Wilkins.

A. L. Thomson is numbered among the sick.

Miss Lizzie Hume of Milton spent Sunday with the home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tarrent left Saturday for Minneapolis for a visit with relatives.

A number from this section attended the M. W. A. installation and R. N. A. installation at Darlen, Friday night. All report having a fine time.

Mrs. A. C. Clowes was a week's guest of her daughter, Mrs. Ruby Wise in Milwaukee.

Miss Gertrude Churchill of Delavan was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Charles Starin last week.

Mrs. Clara Sert spent the last of the week in Milton.

When Mr. Corning was returning from Delavan Saturday one wheel came off his wagon, throwing him to the ground. No bones were broken, but he was badly shaken up.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Stewart, Earl and Dorothy of Delavan, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stewart Sunday.

A. Baldwin is suffering with blood poison in his hand.

Bert Baldwin of Walworth is visiting his father.

Mrs. Frederick of Belvidere, Ill., Mr. Monroe and daughter, Mrs. Gagner of Clinton, Mrs. Allie Rokenbrodt and Mr. Dodge of Avalon attended the funeral of Mrs. Hackwell.

The Misses Evaline Cushman and Ada McCoy of Evansville, spent Friday night with the latter's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. McCoy and attended the party at John Eastman's.

Friday evening the Busy Bees and Beaver boys, with their teachers, Mrs. E. B. Arnold and Minnie Harper, as well as their pastor, Rev. E. B. Arnold, were invited to John Eastman's home as guests of their daughters, Misses Maud Mey and Alice Eastman. After the business meeting of the Busy Bees, games were indulged in and during the evening the hostesses served an oyster supper with other good things to eat. Before the guests departed they presented the Misses Maud and Alice with a silver spoon each and other gifts in anticipation of their soon coming birthday. A splendid time is the report of the guests who numbered over thirty.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

(By Howard L. Rann.)

MILK is a pale blue beverage which is coaxed from the lowing kine with the bare hands, allowed to ferment and then sold to the ultimate consumer by the half pint. Nearly all of the milk which is sold to strangers has to be diluted with a good quality of cistern water, in the ratio of about 16 to 1, in order to preclude the purchaser from becoming incensed.

Milk is manufactured in large quantities by the domestic cow, which stores it up during the day time and lets go of it hurriedly in the hush of twilight, at the request of the hired man. Whenever the hired man meets a cow which is reluctant to perform this simple household duty, he appeals to her finer nature by striking her heavily with both feet. Sometimes this renders the cow dissatisfied, and she retaliates by running one leg through the milk pail.

When milk has stood around in comparative idleness for several hours without being tampered with by the cat, it grows a rich yellow roosting, called cream, which is skimmed off several inches below the surface. What is left is then bottled and sold to people whose stomachs are perfectly fearless. No cream is allowed to enter a milk bottle unless the proprietor of the dairy is afflicted with attacks of intermittent blindness.

Milk never turns sour until it is time to spray it into the morning coffee, when it has to be revived with sul soda. If it has gone so far that a pulmotor can't reach it, it is used as a substitute for lemon extract in making pies, pancakes and desiccates.

Condensed milk is a pre-shrunk product which is considered a great delicacy by people who have never seen any kind of cream except the complexion bleach. It will keep indefinitely in the house of a man who has once lived on a farm.

Buttermilk is a salubrious by-product which can be enjoyed by anybody with a cultivated taste and a cast-iron will. It is harder to cultivate a deep thirst for buttermilk than it is to read Browning without going to sleep.

CHILD AGED THREE DIES OF DIPHTHERIA

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Maly at Utter's Corners Stricken On Sunday—Mother Also Ill.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Utter's Corners, Jan. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Glen Maly are mourning the loss of their little three year old daughter, who died at three o'clock Sunday afternoon of diphtheria. She was buried at midnight in the Utter's Corners cemetery. They have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement. Mrs. Maly is suffering from the disease and the home is quarantined, and every effort is being made to prevent the spread of the dreaded contagion.

Kicked by a Horse.

A young man in the employ of Fred Moodie was quite seriously hurt by being kicked in the face by a horse that he was leading to water. Dr. Dunn of Whitewater, was called and found it necessary to take several stitches in the wound.

Other Items.

Will Teetshorn visited his son, Arthur, at the veterinary college in Chicago recently.

Frank Snyder was in Milwaukee last week buying horses.

Miss Hattie Stubbs who teaches school at Clover Valley, spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Alfred Lurvey and family.

Mrs. Caroline Clarke and son, Nelson, from west of Milton Junction, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Sturms of Milton, came here Saturday in Sturms' auto and spent the day with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Farnsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hull and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sherman and son, George, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Farnsworth.

Robert Acker, Warren Mack, Chas. Gage and Fred Teetshorn, attended the automobile show in Milwaukee.

Elton Cleland of Milton, put in a hot water heating plant at the McComb home last week.

A load of young people drove to the Joseph Koslarski home Saturday night and were very pleasantly entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cowles visited friends at Lima Center Sunday afternoon.

A drinking fountain was installed in the schoolhouse in District No. 11, Friday.

A chicken pie supper will be served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Teetshorn, Thursday night, Feb. 6th. A musical program will be one of the attractions of the evening and the proceeds will be used to aid the church sheds. Everybody invited to be in attendance and have a good time and assist in a good cause.

John Shields and son, George, drove to North Lima and spent the day with Mr. Shields' mother, Mrs. E. Shields Sunday.

The Hull families held a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hull, Wednesday of last week. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Hull and son, Corintha and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hull.

We are glad to note that Mrs. George H. Ross is improving in health at present writing.

Mothers Resented Charity.

MOLLY McDONALD

A TALE OF THE FRONTIER

By RANDALL PARRISH
Author of "Keith of the Border," "My Lady of Doubt," "My Lady of the South," etc., etc.
Illustrations by J. L. Barnes

"That! Yes, and a thousand times more! I had ambition once, opportunity, even wealth. They were swept away by a man's life, a woman's peridy. Out of that wreck, I crawled to the world again a mere thing. I lived simply because I must live, skulking in obscurity, my only inspiration the hope of an honorable death or an opportunity for vengeance. Mine was the life of the ranks in the desert, associating with the lowest scum in constant contact with savagery. I could not speak to a decent woman, or be a man among men. There was nothing left me but to brood over wrongs, and plot revenge. I became morose, faded, a mere creature of discipline, food for powder. It was no more when I first met you. But with that meeting the chains snapped, the old ambitions of life returned. You were a mere girl from the East; you did not understand, nor care about the snobbery of army life. No, it was not that—you were above it. You trusted me, treated me as a friend, almost as an equal. I loved you then, when we parted on the trail, but I went back to New Mexico to fight fate. It was such a hopeless dream, yet all summer long I rode with memory tugging at my heart. I grew to hate myself, but could never forget you."

She drew nearer, her hand upon his arm, her face uplifted.

"How could I dream you did?" almost bitterly. "You were gracious, kind—but you were a major's daughter, as far away from me as the stars. I never heard from you; not even a rumor of your whereabouts came to me across the plains. I supposed you had returned East; had passed out of my life forever. Then that night when we rode into Dodge I saw you again—saw you in the yellow lamp light, watching us pass, heard you ask what troops those were, and I knew instantly all my fighting out there in the desert had been vain—that you were forever the one, one woman."

"I remained for that," she confessed softly, her lashes wet.

"At Dodge?"

"Yes, at Dodge. I knew you would come, must come. Some intuition seemed to tell me that we should meet again. Oh! I was so happy the night you came! No one had told me your troop had been ordered in. It was like a dream come true. When I saw you leading your horse across the parade I could hardly refrain from calling out to you before them all. I did not care what they thought—for my soldier heart came home from the wars."

"Sweetheart," the deep voice faltering, "may I kiss you?"

"Of course you may."

His lips met, and she clung to him as his arms held her closely. It was like a dream to him, this sudden, unexpected surrender. Perhaps she read this in his eyes.

"Do not misunderstand me," she urged softly. "I do not come to you because of what has happened, because I am alone and helpless. If you had stepped from the ranks that night at Dodge, I would have answered even as I do now."

"You love me?—love me?" he repeated.

"Yes."

Even as he looked down upon her upturned face, there was borne back upon him a realization of their predicament. His eyes swept over the surrounding desolation, the two dead bodies lying motionless in the snow, the stiffening pony, the drear hillsides which shut them in. The sight brought him back to consciousness with a shock. Minutes might mean much now. Dupont had disappeared over that ridge to the right, in the direction of Black Kettle's camp. How far away that might be was altogether guess work, yet what would inevitably occur when the fugitive arrived among his friends, and told his story, could be clearly conceived. Even if the man believed Hamlin killed, he would recall to mind the girl, and would return to use himself as to her fate. Knowing her helplessness, the practical impossibility of her escape alone, a return expedition might not be hurried yet, beyond doubt, this isolated valley would have Indian visitors within a few hours. And when these discovered the truth they would be hot upon a trail where concealment was impossible. The only hope of escape, and that far from brilliant—as he remembered the long desert ride from the distant cow camp on the Cimarron—lay in immediate departure. Every moment of delay served to increase their peril. Even beyond the danger of Dupont's report to Black Kettle, this snow-bound valley was not so far away from that chief's camp as to be safe from invasion by young warriors in search of game. All this flashed upon Hamlin's consciousness as he stood, even as his heart thrilled to her frank avowal.

"This is so strange I can hardly realize the truth," he said gravely. "But, dear one, we must talk elsewhere, and not here. Life was never before worth so much as it is now, and every instant we waste here may mean capture and death. Come, there are two ponies at the mouth of the valley."

He snatched up the blanket from the ground, and wrapped it about her in such manner as to enable her to walk; stooped over Hughes, loosened the revolver from his stiffened fingers, and then came back to where she waited.

"You can walk? It is not far."

"Yes, the numbness is all gone."

He was all seriousness now, alert and watchful, the plainsman and the soldier.

"Then come, I'll break trail."

"Where is the Indian village?" she asked, her voice trembling slightly.

"Beyond those bluffs; at least Hughes thought so. We saw their pony herd in the valley below, mere dots against the snow."

Ten minutes later, plowing through the intervening drifts, they came forth to the broad vista of the valley and the two patient ponies standing motionless.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

Molly's Story.

The two rode steadily, following the trail left by Hamlin and Hughes earlier in the morning. As there had been no wind, and the cold had crusted the snow, the tracks left by the two ponies were easily followed. As they skirted the ridge the Indian pony herd could be distinguished, sufficiently close by this time to leave no doubt as to what they were. Hamlin cautiously kept back out of sight in the breaks of the ridge, although his keen eyes, searching the upper valley, discovered no sign of pursuit. Tired as Dupont's horse undoubtedly was, he might not yet have attained the Indian encampment, which, in truth, might be much farther away than Hughes had supposed. The fact that no spirals of smoke were visible puzzled the Sergeant, for in that frosty air they should naturally be perceived for a considerable distance. Possibly, however, the bluffs were higher and more abrupt, farther up stream, affording better chances of concealment. Indeed, it was quite probable that the Indians would seek the most sheltered spot available for their winter camp, irrespective of any possible fear of attack. Reasonably safe from a winter campaign, the atrocities of the past summer would naturally tend to make them unusually cautious and watchful.

Molly, wuffed to the eyes in her thick blanket, permitted her pony to follow the other without guidance, until they both dipped down into the hollow, safe from any possible observation. In some mysterious way the overpowering feeling of terror which had controlled her for days past had departed. The mere presence of Hamlin was an assurance of safety. As she watched him, erect in saddle, his blue overcoat tightly buttoned, his revolver belt strapped outside, she no longer felt any consciousness of the surrounding desolation or the nearness of savage foes. Her heart beat fast and her cheeks flushed in memory of what had so swiftly occurred, or struggle, she gave herself unreservedly to his guidance, herself unreservedly to his power to succeed. He was a man so strong, so resourceful, so fitted to the environment, that her trust in him was unquestioned. She needed to ask nothing; was content to follow in silence. Even as she realized the completeness of her surrender, the Sergeant, relaxing none of his watchfulness, checked his pony so that they could ride onward side by side.

"We will follow the trail back," he explained, glancing aside at her face. "It is easier to follow than to strike out for ourselves across the open."

"Where does it lead?"

"To an old cow-camp on the Cimarron. There is a trooper there waiting. Shall I tell you the story?"

"I wish you would."

"And then I am to have yours in return—everything?"

"Yes," she said, and their eyes met. "There is nothing to conceal from you."

He told his tale simply, and in few words; how he had missed, and sought after her in Dodge; how that searching had led directly to the discovery of crime, and finally the revelation of Major McDonald's body. He told of his efforts at organizing a party to follow the fugitives, inspired by a belief that she was a prisoner, of the trip through the blizzard, and of how he had succeeded in outstripping Dupont in the race.

The girl listened silently, able from her own experience to fill in the details of that relentless pursuit, which could not be halted either by storm or bullets. The strength, the determination of the man, appealed to her with new force, and tears welled into her eyes.

"Why, you are crying!" he exclaimed in surprise.

"That is nothing," he lips smiling, as she loosened one hand from the blanket and reached across to clasp his. "You must know, dear, how happy I am to have found you. No one else could have done this."

"Oh, yes, little girl," soberly. "Wasn't you have gone on, if I had been the one to go waiting for the storm to cease, not knowing where you were hidden—that nearly drove me insane."

"I understand; uncertainty is harder to bear than anything else. Shall I tell you now what happened to me?"

"Yes," tenderly, "as much, or as little as you please."

"Then it shall be everything dear," her hand-clasp tightening. A moment she hesitated, looking out across the snow plains, and then back into his eyes. From their expression she gained courage to proceed, her voice low, yet clear enough to make every syllable distinctly audible.

"I—I was frightened when you left me alone on the balcony, and went in to confront Mrs. Dupont. I knew the woman and suspected that she would only be too glad to find some indiscretion she could use against me. It occurred to me that, possibly she had seen her enter the parlor and was there herself to make sure. If so, she would hesitate at no trick to verify her suspicions. This thought so took possession of me that I determined to escape, if possible. And it appeared easy of accomplishment. There was but a short drop to the ground, while a few steps around the end of the hotel would bring me safely to the front entrance. The temptation to try was irresistible. I heard your voices within and thought I understood her game. It was dark below, yet I knew how close the earth was, and there was no sign of any one about. I clambered over the railing, let myself down as fast as I could, and dropped. The slight fall did not even jar me, yet I was none too soon. As I crouched there in the darkness, she flung open the curtains, and looked out to the vacant balcony. I saw the flash of light, and heard her laugh; it was not pleasant laughter, for she was disappointed not to find me there. After the curtains fell again I could no longer hear your voices, and my sole desire was to get back into the hotel unobserved. I was not afraid, only I dreaded to meet any one who might recognize me."

She paused in her recital, as though to recall more clearly the exact facts, the two riding forward, Hamlin leaning over toward her, occasionally glancing watchfully behind. (To be continued.)

THE DAILY NOVELLETTE
SAVE THE SHELLS.
It was the day he had promised to take her to lunch. They stood on the corner talking about it. It was a beautiful day. The sky was blue overhead and the zephyrs blew below, but to him all was dismal, for he didn't have a cent. He didn't have a nickel in his hand. But what is that in his hand. "It's a bag of peanuts," he said. "Yvette," he said, "have another pe nut. Schmidt's used to be a good place, but I hear they don't put any more in the soup any more. Have another peanut?"

"Let's go to Schmidheiser's," she suggested. "But no, the salt and pepper there are absolutely tasteless. What elegant peanuts!"

"Blancbroom's would be a nice place, only it's not in this city," he said. "Go on! Have another peanut."

"And then there's Liggett's," she mused. "That would be nice, only it's closed up. These peanuts are really too nice for anything."

Thus they went on talking and hurling the shells at passersby, until she finally cried, "Why, how funny! I couldn't eat another thing now if my life depended on it. I've eaten 232 peanuts!"

"Ha! Ha!" he said laughingly. "Oh! well, some other time, then."

DINNER STORIES

"The last time I gave you money," said the kindly old lady, "you promised you wouldn't walk right into a saloon and spend it."

"That's right, lady," said the tramp.

"Yes; but as soon as you got the money you did."

"Say, lady, don't you know the difference between a walk and a sprint?"

A little Central American republic was threatened by war, as a neighboring republic was daily threatening an invasion of her territory; and all available recruits were being picked up and "recruited" in order that they might learn to fight and die, if need be, for their beloved country. A batch of twenty had just arrived on the scene, and their leader handed a note to the general in command of the government troops, which read as follows: "I have a general—The honor of this note will have the bearer to turn over to you twenty volunteers. Please return the ropes."

Vinol Helps Old People

Here is Proof That It Creates Strength.

So many cases like this are constantly coming to our attention that we publish it for the benefit of others:—Mrs. James McCormick of Cohoes, N. Y., says: "My mother is an elderly lady and after having pneumonia she did not seem to recover her strength. She was so weak it was about as much as she could do to get from her room into the living room. Her strength seemed to be all gone. I commenced to give her Vinol and in less than a week she was like a new woman. She had regained her strength so she could get around anywhere."

It is the medicinal curative elements of the cod livers without oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron which are contained in Vinol that makes it so efficient in such cases.

If you have an aged father, mother or anyone in your family who needs a strength-creating tonic, try Vinol on our offer to give back your money if it fails to benefit. Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis.

Superstition of "The King's Evil."

"James I., when he was brought to England, had strong theological objections to the old superstition of the royal gift of healing, and requested to be spared from performing the traditional ceremony. His English advisers, however, were well aware of the peculiar value set upon it in the southern kingdom, and urged that to relinquish it would rob the crown of a portion of its dignity. James prudently resigned himself."—"The King's Evil," by Raymond Crawford.

"What did the French do then?" she asked.

"They ran away," said the boy.

"The boy's face lighted up with understanding."

"That's right!" he exclaimed proudly.—Bates City Star.

Plenty More Like This in Janesville.

Scores of Janesville people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, 118 Terrace St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I was a sufferer from kidney trouble for ten or twelve years. My kidneys became sluggish and their failure to do their work properly caused me to become weak and helpless. The kidney secretions were unnatural and often my joints were sore and swollen. I had almost given up hope of getting relief when I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a supply at the People's Drug Co., and they soon restored my kidneys to a normal condition. I advise other kidney sufferers to try this remedy. I take pleasure in again recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and advising their use in all cases of kidney trouble. I am still free from kidney complaint and my back does not bother me to any extent."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Miss Fannie Edwards of Vivian, La., who is a Sport Enthusiast, Vows She will Yet Stage a Boxing Match.

Though Sheriff Stopped Her Once, Vivian, La.—Though once knocked out by law, Miss Fannie Edwards declares she can "come back," and it is expected that she will soon make another attempt to stage a boxing match.

Miss Edwards, a pretty brunette of twenty-one, has always been a sport enthusiast. She is manager of the town band and when that organization was about to go into the hands of a receiver for want of a few dollars she decided to put on a fight for the profits to go to the band. Everything was arranged for a scrap between Kid Aubrey and Kid McCormick, heavyweights, when the sheriff stepped in and prevented the bout. That setback has served only to arouse Miss Edwards' fighting blood. She knows that when she tried to stage the scrap she was operating under a borrowed charter, and this gave Sheriff Flournoy an excuse to prevent the match. Now, however, she plans to get a charter of her own and then she will want to know why a fight is illegal at Vivian and perfectly legal at Shreveport.

The pretty Vivian girl often attends the Shreveport bouts, and is a great admirer of the game. She carries her beliefs into practice for three of her brothers are promising amateur boxers.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

WALKED HIMSELF INTO HEALTH.

We do not walk enough. The automobile, trolley, railroad and other means of transit have robbed us of the most healthful and pleasurable of exercises.

Here is a story of a man who used walking as a medicine. It made him well.

His name is Robert E. Hillman, and he lives in Waterville, Me. Six years ago, when Hillman was twenty-four years old, his doctors told him that he had not more than six months to live. He was in an advanced stage of tuberculosis.

A friend advised him to "get plenty of fresh air; get out and walk, eat vegetables and drink plenty of water and fresh milk."

Hillman followed his friend's counsel. He started to walk and kept it up for six years. He walked across the continent and most of the way back.

To pay his way he sold a kitchen utensil. Last December he arrived in Memphis, from where he took a train back to his old home in Waterville. He not only made enough from his sales to keep him the six years, but had sufficient surplus to buy his ticket and then some.

Better still, he had his health. Physicians pronounced him a well man and said he could live anywhere.

He had returned to nature's remedies—wholesome exercise, the sweet air of the out of doors, plenty of food.

Walking is good not only for sick people, but for well people. It keeps them well.

It exercises practically every muscle of the body. It causes us to breathe into the bottoms of the lungs.

It is a sovereign cure for dyspepsia and kindred ills, for it whets the edge of appetite, stimulates digestion and tones up the whole system.

Robert Hillman walked away from death. In the race his grisly majesty dropped farther and farther to the rear until at last he was out of the running.

The young man did more than save his life. He showed a fine type of courage in taking up a humble calling. He made friends all over the land. He came to know his country more intimately than he could have done in any other way. He gained the respect of all who knew him. He set a worthy example for others to follow, which to itself is a high privilege.

The Opportunities in Work.

I STOPPED at the office to see Dorothy today," said Phoebe, as she sunk into the easy chair before the glowing grate in Alice's library. "How is she?" asked Alice.

"Oh, she's well and all that. But I never saw anybody so discontented and sour. And I don't think she liked my coming and seeing her at work."

"Well it is hard," replied Alice, "to have to work when you never expected to do anything of the kind, and to miss all the fun the other girls are having. It certainly was awful, her father's dying suddenly the way he did, and leaving them penniless when they thought they were rich."

"Yes," said Phoebe, "to be sure. But I don't think Dorothy is taking it the best way. All she did today was to bemoan the fact that she had to work and that she couldn't have any fun like other girls, or pretty dresses. She said that every night she just went home and cried, because life was so different from what it used to be."

"Poor girl!" sighed Alice.

"I don't think so," said Phoebe with spirit. "Why doesn't she look at the other side of the situation. Why can't she see she has an opportunity now to learn a awful lot, to make herself a place in the world, to become self-reliant, to be useful in a big way. She has a lot of new worlds to conquer; and if I were in her place I would go into the fight with joy. I should seize with zest upon the opportunity to learn these new phases of life. I don't say that our way of living isn't pleasant, and that we aren't useful to some extent. But this other way of living is also pleasant and useful. And since she is compelled to live it, why not get the fruits it yields, instead of turning her back on everything of that kind and weeping and wallowing over what she has lost. The greatest misfortune in life isn't to lose money and to work. It may make you a much finer woman than you would otherwise have been."

"Yes, that's so," admitted Alice. "But still, when you are eighteen it is awful hard to have to give up everything in the way of pleasure."

"Yes, it is," rejoined Phoebe. "But the way she's doing now she's losing on all counts. She has to give up what she has had, and she's not taking what she might get. There are new pleasures for her in her new life, but she won't take them."

"She don't see them yet," said Alice.

"And she never will, while her face is turned to the past, and her eyes dimmed with tears over what she has lost. She needs to face about and look with clear eyes over the new country she is entering. There is much there to give her pleasure if she only will see it."

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

ON REACTIONS.

IT WAS the day after the day after Christmas. The outer edges of the glamor of Christmas sometimes light up the day after, but the day after that—well, you know what it's like.

Molly, the little stenographer lady, was laboriously altering a waist which she had given her mother for Christmas. The author-man was showing one of his Christmas books to the Wants-to-be-Cynic, and the Lady-who-always-knows-somehow was stamping a batch of Christmas thank notes.

"Oh dear," sighed Molly, "I don't know what ails me. I feel about as blue as Judas."

"What's the matter?" inquired the Wants-to-be-Cynic. "Didn't you find what you wanted in your stocking?"

"Didn't someone appreciate the tie you crocheted for him?" said the Author-Man with a capital letter accent on the Someone, and a meaningful glance at the Cynic who has been noticeably less cynical of late, especially towards Molly.

"Of course, it wasn't that," Molly answered the Cynic. "I never had such a nice Christmas every way. I was just too happy Christmas and yesterday, and today I feel as if the bottom had dropped out of everything. Tell me what's the matter with me, Big Sister."

The Lady-who-always-knows-somehow smiled. "It's just reaction, isn't it?" she asked. "We all feel it. Maybe not so much, because maybe we weren't so happy as you. Cheer up, Molly, you'll be back to normal in a day or two. I made up my mind a long while ago that reaction just has to be, and that's the way I cheer myself up. Keep telling yourself that it's just reaction and that nothing's really wrong, take good brisk walks and get plenty of sleep, and before you know it you'll be normal again."

Don't you think the Lady's prescription for curing reactions is pretty good?

I do, and because I think so many of us suffer occasionally from the inevitable reaction, I pass the prescription along.

All life is action and reaction. The Christmas reaction is one that even the most phlegmatic feels, but to the sensitive folks reactions are a very frequent occurrence. They must come, the point is to take them as philosophically as possible.

And the first step toward that is to recognize them as such, which a great many people fail to do. "I don't know why it is," I heard a young bride say, "but I've noticed that it is just after we have been particularly happy together that we have our quarrels." "I don't know what makes Johnny so naughty today, he was just as good as gold yesterday," says a distracted mother. In both cases, the trouble was only an inevitable reaction.

It is said that more divorces are granted the first six months after marriage than at any other time. A large proportion of these are doubtless nothing but the result of the inevitable reaction that comes after the long anticipation and preparation has finally culminated in marriage.

Action and reaction, height and depth—it is the law of the immaterial, as well as the material world that these pairs should be inseparable, and the wise man learns to recognize this law and allow for it.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To Clean Out Stove. If you burn soft coal in your cook stove you will have to occasionally clean out the soot that collects in flues and pipe. The easiest way I found is to use a soft rag well saturated with kerosene.

The top over the oven can first be swept with an old brush broom into the fire-box, then into the ash-pail. Then, closing all front drafts, close damper as for heating oven, place saturated rag in at the fire cleaning door and touch a lighted match to it. It will blaze and roar up the chimney carrying the soot with it.

GIRLS! GIRLS! SURELY TRY THIS!

DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

All you need is a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine"—Hair Gets Lustrous, Fluffy and Abundant at Once. Destroys All Dandruff.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—That's scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. The joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is

With the long fine cleaner move the rag about into all parts. If one rag does not complete the job, try another. It is much easier than the old way of scraping the soot out into a pan, and the room is not filled with ashes and soot. Neither is there any need of taking down the pipe, as this method cleans that as well. Mine has not been down for over a year—not since I learned this way of doing.

For Washington's Birthday. Original idea for a Washington birthday cake:

One cup butter and two cups sugar rubbed to a cream; three cups flour, one cup sweet milk, two teaspoons baking powder, whites of four eggs beaten stiff and folded in last.

Any preferred filling can be used for top and sides. Use white frosting or whipped cream. Then place candied cherries in the shape of a hatchet on top. Makes a handsome and appropriate cake.

This cake can be used for Valentine day by placing candied cherries in form of a heart on white frosting.

The Table.

Meat and Potato Pie.—Take left over meat, such as beef or pork steak. Run through meat grinder. Then take cold mashed potatoes or whole potatoes chopped fine. Place layer of potatoes in bottom of baking dish, then layer of meat, then another layer of potatoes, then another layer of meat. On top place a layer of fine bread crumbs. Season to taste. Pour over it about a cup of gravy, meat broth or milk. Bake in moderate oven one half hour or more. Cover at first. Leave uncovered long enough to brown.

To Cook Dumplings without meat and have them light.—Most people cover them with a lid. Sometimes they are good but oftener more like bullets. The secret is to leave them uncovered when they have boiled about 10 minutes. Take a spoon and flip each one over and boil 10 minutes longer. If they start to burn, two they will be light as ever. Do not roll them out. Dish up with a spoon when you put them in the gravy.

Brown Bread.—Two cups buttermilk, one-half cup brown sugar, one teaspoon soda in buttermilk, one teaspoon baking powder in flour, three cups graham flour, unsifted, a little salt. Raise one hour; bake one hour. Sour milk can be used instead of buttermilk by adding one tablespoon lard.

To Cook Vegetables.

Cabbage, onions, cauliflower, turnips, parsnips, oyster plants, and Brussels sprouts should be dropped into bubbling, boiling salted water to which a level teaspoon of sugar has been added.

Cover closely, until the vegetable comes to a boil; uncover the pot and set back on range where it will simmer, but never boil.

Boiling water breaks the cells too quickly and the volatile oils and vegetable salts are carried off in the steam. You lose all that is of value as a food in the steam and the tough tissue remains.

The salt and sugar prevent discoloration and help retain the natural flavor.

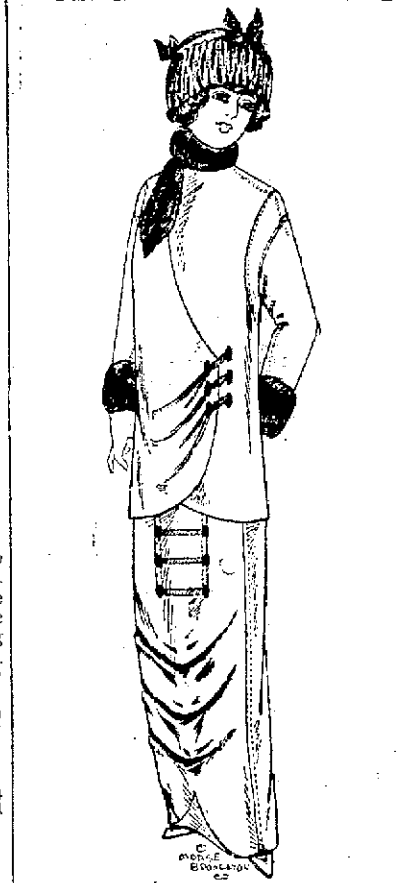

Use a perforated cover after the simmering process begins and cook all these vegetables without a disagreeable odor in the house. If you detect any odor, know that the vegetable is cooking too fast and regulate the heat.

A slow oven cooks them perfectly.

Last Resort.

"Do you believe in platonic friendship?" he asked. "Not," she replied, "as long as there is a chance for anything else."—Chicago Record-Herald.

ULTRA-SMART SUIT OF GRAY CORDUROY

One of the ultra-smart suits of the season is made out of slate gray wool corduroy. The coat has open collar and cuffs. The front being finished with a tail of the same. The sleeves are set in wide armholes, which are outlined by shaped circular sections stitched along the edge. The coat fastens well over the left side below the waist and is draped beneath braid loops joined by cord loops. The skirt is of exceedingly neat cut. It has two stitched box plaits down the back and lapped seams at either side of the front. The front gore has a seam down the center, each side being below the knees. The short and narrow panel over the front gore is trimmed with olives and cord.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can you tell me what to eat and drink to make plenty of good nurse?

A MOTHER. This is a matter you should take up with your doctor. Personally I believe that a nursing mother should eat anything she wants unless she finds it disagrees with the baby. A healthy mother with a good appetite usually has plenty of good milk for her child.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have three plants that are dying. One is a Boston fern, another a large leafed plant with a fine light stripe in the leaves; the last a Christmas tree plant. What can be the cause?

Since they are DAILY READER. I think they must affect all of them. One may be gas in the house. Sometimes coal gas, if there is much of it, will effect plants. Perhaps insects are destroying the plants. First see that the air and light are right and no insects on the plants or in the roots. Sprinkle with tobacco water and dig tobacco dust around the roots. This may help. Don't keep them too wet.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will you please suggest a good name for a club of young girls? (2) What would you think of a young man who made a girl a present of a diamond ring and did not propose to her? (3) Should she keep it and wear it on her left hand? (4) I have been keeping company with a young man for some time and lately have heard several things about him. I do not know whether to give him up or not. Please advise me. (5) Is it proper for a girl who is keeping company with a young man to ask him to call on her?

A BUNCH OF GIRLS.

(1) What do you think about adopting a club flower and naming the club after the flower? (2) I should think he had serious intentions. (3) She should tell him that she cannot accept such a valuable potatoes in a sauce pan with a little chopped parsley, onion, salt and pepper; add the potatoes, cover and set over a very slow fire for five minutes, then serve hot.

Mashed Potatoes. Boil the potatoes in their skins, peel and mash or put through a ricer. For every pint season with one-half teaspoon of salt, two tablespoons of butter, one-quarter cup of hot milk (or cream and less butter), stand over a slow fire and mash and beat with a slotted spoon until fine and white, and serve with a dash of paprika over the top. If it is necessary for them to stand, cover and set the same pan in hot water. From mashed potatoes many varieties may be made, such as potato roses, potato cakes, potato crust for meat pies, (flowers); these are pressed through a pastry bag and rose tube, which may be purchased at any housefurnishing store.

Making All Happy. "What I deem an appropriate present is a book, and that I must choose for myself," writes a correspondent of the London Chronicle. "To leave the selection to friends would be a catastrophe. Every year, therefore, on behalf of those generously minded individuals who have kindly thoughts toward me, I buy books for myself, tell them, and get the money refunded. And in the measure of monetary value they remember me, I likewise remember them—in any article of their own choosing. And we are all happy."

Motorist's Luck. "Well, Blithers, what luck did you have with your new car?" asked Jarroway. "More than I ever expected," said Blithers. "Just three minutes after the darned thing blew up another car came along with a busted tire, and the owner bought my old tires for ten dollars apiece."—Harper's Weekly.

Dr. Kellogg says: "There can be no doubt that the free use of potatoes by the Irish is in a large measure responsible for the remarkable longevity of the nation."

Potatoes baked or boiled with the skins give us the largest amount of the necessary salts found in this delicious vegetable. Sad to relate, it is rarely ever found "deliciously" cooked. The most ordinary cook, or if she knew nothing at all of cooking, would say "she knew how to cook potatoes." The salt is not the cause, not one in a hundred cooks know that because potatoes are so full of starch they require active boiling water, to break this up so that it is digestible; again they are more than 80 per cent water, so that unless put into the water where actually boiling, the potatoes takes in the water and they become heavy and soggy instead of light and mealy, when the starch is attacked by boiling temperature. Buy a 3 or 5-cent vegetable brush and clear the skins thoroughly then they are ready for baking, boiling, or steaming.

Baking Potatoes. Choose smooth potatoes of medium size. If old, cut a slice from each end to allow moisture to escape. Put into a moderate oven to heat through gradually and let the heat increase until done about 35 to 45 minutes. Crack the skin at once of a baked potato to allow surplus moisture to escape, or cut in halves, scoop out the potato, season with salt, paprika and cream; refill, sprinkle thickly with cheese, bread crumbs and butter and set into a hot oven to brown.

Potatoes a la Chama. Peel the potatoes in their skins as directed. Peel them and cut in slices, less than a quarter of an inch thick; melt slowly two tablespoons of butter for every four medium-sized present from any man to whom she is not engaged. If that doesn't make him propose, she must give it back.

(4) Be sure that what you have heard is the truth before turning him down. Ask your father or big brother to quietly look into the matter. (5) Seems to me he ought to have called on her by this time if they are keeping company. She might tell him to drop in or invite him to Sunday evening supper.

Dear Mrs. Thompson:—(1) I am a girl of twenty and have wrinkles under my eyes and a deep one in my forehead. What can I do to remove them?

(2)—Is it proper for a young man who I know is married to come, here from another city to see me, though he isn't living with his wife? (3) Is it proper for me to go motorcycleing? (4) I received a card from a boy friend with whom I used to correspond. Would it be proper for me to write as he gave me his new address, being anxious to keep his acquaintance. MILDRED.

(1) Get some good heavy court-plaster at the drug store, cut a piece big enough to cover the wrinkle in the forehead—or several pieces, if it's a long wrinkle. Then smooth out the wrinkle with your fingers while you put on the plaster. Leave it on overnight. If court-plaster doesn't come off easy, apply alcohol. For wrinkles under the eyes, massage gently with a good skin food.

(2) It would be very wrong. I think you know it would be, but you are trying to convince yourself it would be all right. (3) It is not at all ladylike. (4) Send him a card in return, but don't let him see that you are anxious.

Sample Bottle Often Proves Beneficial.

Some time ago I was afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble and was unable to obtain any relief from other medicines so sent for a sample bottle of your Swamp-Root. I received so much benefit from this small bottle that I purchased a large bottle of the drugist. I continued the use of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root until I regarded myself as cured and am now in very good health. I recommended it to a neighbor who has used it with the same results.

I regard your remedy, Swamp-Root as a preparation that will do all you claim for it.

MRS. ALBERT STERNER, Crossona, Pa.

Personally appeared before me this 15th of September, 1909, Mrs. Albert Sterner, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You.

Send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Janesville Daily Gazette. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

GIVE your palate an education. Teach it to discriminate between ordinary cooking chocolate and the exquisite and delicate Rona Dutch cocoa flavor. Big can for a quarter.

Next time you make chocolate cake; icing, fudge, etc., substitute Rona for grated or melted chocolate. As it's richer in the chocolate flavor, use a little less of it—and thereby greatly improve the product.

CAMP COOKING.

For the housewife in the modern kitchen, with all the useful, helpful devices to aid in making housework a pleasure, the simple outfit of a camper would find her helpless. A sack of flour, a hunk of bacon or salt pork and a frying pan is oftentimes all the working materials a camp cook who travels, carries. The camper builds his fire, making a stove of stones, on which he places his frying pan, and in which the pork is soon sizzling. He opens the sack of flour, pours in a little water, and adds salt, if he should be fortunate enough to have any, mixes the dough in the top of the flour, bakes it in the hot frying pan, and it tastes good, too, for the long tramping through the woods gives one an appetite and a digestion which defies anything.

Fish that has just been caught and is broiled before an open fire on two sticks will give the unsatisfied taste of a savory which civilization never can produce. Potatoes baked in the ashes of a fire, onions roasted with the skins on develop untasted flavors.

When one has access to more varieties of food, there is an endless number of good things which may be prepared in the woods.

The person who is not able to go out into the woods unhampered with weight, prepare simple food and enjoy it all, has missed a large slice of enjoyment.

The most companionable people, the broadest, most helpful, are they who never lose the childlike enjoyment in simple pleasures. To them "there are sermons in stones, books in the running brooks and good in everything."

A fowl or wild game of any kind, if well seasoned and covered with a paste of flour and water, then buried in the hot ashes, well covered, will roast to toothsome deliciousness. The covering will come off with any of the ashes which may cling to it, and leave the meat juicy and well flavored.

BAD BREATH

It's Your Duty to Get at the Cause and Remove it. A Word to the Wise, You Know.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, oil the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugary-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system of impurities.

They do all that dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Take one every night for a week and note the effect.

"Every little Olive Tablet, has a movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box.

Meats

We are handling a large rural trade. Parcels Post daily, and find it eminently satisfactory.

A. G. METZINGER
Janesville Meat House.

Dry Goods and Ladies Wear

When the Parcels Post bill was being introduced first some of our local merchants sent a protest to our Representative, Mr. Cooper, asking him to use his influence to prevent its passage, believing that it would be a serious menace to business in the small cities, tributary to the large cities, as it would have a tendency to develop a spirit of trading by the rural customers with the large stores in the larger cities.

The very small advantage gained by the merchant on the delivery of small packages would be more than offset by the loss of trade resulting from the increased effort put forth by the merchants of the large cities to get the trade of the rural communities. We do not think the local merchant will gain much by the Parcels Post.

F. J. BAILEY & SON

The Parcels Post has been used satisfactorily by this store in sending goods out into the country. Without doubt it is the biggest boon to the farmer yet inaugurated.

POND & BAILEY.

We have had every fair opportunity to judge the benefits to the farmer of the Parcels Post delivery and have found that the convenience consists of having a package delivered right to the farm house, instead of having to go, often times, several miles to the nearest express office, to say nothing of a considerable saving in carrying charges. It virtually makes each home its own express office.

J. M. BOSTWICK & SONS.

Confections

Since the inception of the new Parcels Post law our sales to country patrons have increased to a large extent.

RAZOOK'S CANDY PALACE.

Groceries

We have sent out a considerable amount of goods through the Parcels Post and think that it is a splendid thing for the farmer, who does not yet appreciate the wonderful convenience and benefit that it has brought about.

DEDRICK BROS.

The Parcels Post is a mighty good thing for both merchant and consumer. It is a fine chance to increase business if the merchant will but use it and it will also be a money and time-saver for the consumer. I am heartily in favor of it.

Flowers By Parcels Post

Janesville Floral
Co. Pays the Postage.

The new Parcels Post is a boon to the lover of flowers who is situated on the rural routes or in the smaller towns surrounding Janesville and who has been unable to gratify the desire to have beautiful fresh flowers in the home.

We have arranged to pay the Parcels Post charge on flowers weighing up to six pounds and totalling $1.50 or more in price. Or we will pay the express charges on out-of-town orders that weigh more than six pounds.

A patented clip placed in each box of flowers will prevent the loosening and pulling apart of the flowers. When they arrive at their destination they will be in as perfect condition as when they left the Flower Shop.

PHONE AT OUR EXPENSE. We particularly urge the out-of-town buyer to use the telephone at our expense. We will pay all two-minute long distance charges on retail orders from the towns surrounding Janesville, excepting Whitewater, Monroe, Darlington, Mineral Pt., Platteville, Evansville and Beloit in which towns we have established agencies.

Shoes

Within 24 hours after the new Parcels Post law went into effect several packages of shoes had this store to be delivered by Parcels Post. For years we have enjoyed a large mail order business on shoes which will now be greatly benefited by the Parcels Post. The Parcels Post is a splendid thing for the farmer, bringing it does, the city to his very door.

D. J. LUBY & CO.

The Parcels Post has had a noticeable effect on our business that has been very pleasant. By keeping a record of the size worn by each of our customers enables us to fill mail orders intelligently and to the general satisfaction of our patrons.

Men's Apparel

Rehberg's are pleased with the amount of business received and sent out through the Parcels Post. For years we've waited to see this enacted, for the benefit of the farmer, and that it is here, we hope the farmer will use to his profit.

Hardware

Our books show a large number of orders for light hardware which has been sent out in the country by Parcels Post. The advantages of the new Parcels Post law to the farmer are apparent.

Jewelry

I have already used the Parcels Post and it is satisfactory. I am always glad to receive any innovation that will add to the service I can offer my trade.

Drugs

The Parcels Post is not, in our opinion, going to make much difference throughout the country at the present time. It will probably benefit a few people on small shipments, but will be some time before an opinion as to its value can be formed.

SMITH PHARMACY.

I think the Parcels Post will be a good thing for the people but it will take some time for them to adjust themselves to the new conditions. I am confident that it will be a money-maker on small shipments in my business at last.

H. E. RANOUS.

The Parcels Post is a good thing for most of the people.

F. E. BUSS.

It is too early yet to judge of the value of the Parcels Post law but I am certain that we will find it a convenience as it will enable us to ship a good many goods, which under the old law could not be shipped by mail or express as the charges were prohibitive.

We will be able to take care of a class of business which we have never been able to handle before.

The Parcels Post Brings The Big Store to Your Very Door

Have you ever tried The Big Store's Mail Order service? Our Mail Order Department has been one of the fastest growing departments in the entire store—Because it is a Satisfactory Service—One that places at your disposal all of the resources of the greatest store in Southern Wisconsin. It is just such a service as you would expect if you were in this store shopping over the counter. And now comes the Parcels Post, making our mail order service still more helpful to you by greatly lowering the cost of transportation. Hundreds of our out-of-town customers are taking advantage of the Parcels Post system, why not you? Mail or phone your orders. We aim to send mail orders same day received, and usually by the first mail out. Where can you get as quick service? Listen to the echo—then silence.

The Rock County Telephone and The Parcels Post

The Telephone a Necessary Adjunct to the Quick Service Rendered by The Parcels Post

Many hundreds of farmers living around Janesville have the Rock County Telephone in their homes. These farmers will have fresh Eggs, Butter, and other Produce in Season and will be ready to deliver these articles to Janesville homes by Parcels Post. If you would know who these farmers are so that you may order from them, look in the Rock County Telephone Directory where you will find them listed. Use the Rock County Telephone to reach Farm Homes, or better still, install a Rock County Phone in your home. Residence rate only $1.00 a month.

REHBERG'S

YOU people who live on the rural routes out of Janesville appreciate the modern conveniences such as the telephone, the rural daily mail service, the automobile. Now comes the Parcels Post to bring you the necessities of life by daily mail. It's the greatest boon to the farmer that has occurred in years. We've eagerly anticipated the introduction of the Parcels Post law because it would enable us to better serve our patrons. We're prepared to render you splendid service through the Parcels Post. Use the telephone or the mails to order your goods. We'll have them on the way by the next outgoing mail. Our 15th Annual Clearing Sale now in progress. A splendid chance to save money.
